

Borden Retains Position as Heil Starts Talks on State's Budget

Changes in Prospect For Reorganization Program

ECONOMY IS AIM

Score of Legislators Attend Hearing at Madison

Madison—(P)—Republican Governor-elect Julius P. Heil began the state budget hearings today on a pattern of shaping state finances along the lines of the business practices he established as head of a Milwaukee industrial firm.

He started off by slashing the state banking department's requests for the next two years from $228,000 to $150,000. In line with his economy program he said he would recommend that amount for banking department services and that he hoped there would be more promotions of departmental employees instead of hiring "high priced experts."

He approved allotments of $5,000 a year to the state bar commissioners and $13,419 for the supreme court but questioned a $25,940 increase asked by the state board of health on the contention that private insurance companies are doing added work to promote industrial sanitation and public health.

The new governor, who takes office on Jan. 2, announced at the start of the hearings that he will retain Budget Director James B. Borden, a veteran in the state service.

Borden acted in the capacity of consultant in the first of a series of long sessions which will give Heil a picture of contemplated state expenditures and tax receipts during the two year fiscal period beginning next July.

Some twenty Republican and Democratic members of the new state legislature were grouped about the hearing table. Also present was J. F. Horn, comptroller of the Heil campaign, Milwaukee.

Economy Is Aim

Heil asserted it was his intention to give the state an economical administration. He intimated that some changes are pending in the extensive reorganization of government departments which Governor Philip LaFollette put into effect under authority of the 1937 legislature.

Heil said he was glad to see members of the legislature present since their cooperation will be needed in carrying out new budget functions.

"Our great task is to rehabilitate state government in Wisconsin," the new governor asserted. "We must bring government back to the people again."

One of Heil's first complications was encountering the conditional system of budget making which Governor LaFollette inaugurated in 1937.

Under the LaFollette budget which will remain operative until next July state departments received specific appropriations which were less than their estimated needs and additional appropriations which could be released by the state emergency board.

"Just One Budget"

Heil said, when he started examining the requests of the state banking commission for its 1939-1940 allotments.

"I don't want to have any hidden mysteries in state finance," the banking commission requested a total of $228,000 for the two year operating period. This included $148,000 to supervise the state securities division which Governor LaFollette transferred from the public service to the banking commission. Without the securities division appropriation the banking commission estimated it would need $80,000.

Heil asked Budget Director Borden whether there would be much

Call on State Supreme Court to Untangle Maze of Politics and Law in Emergency Board Order

ACCIDENT VICTIM

Milton Dorschner, 21, above, formerly of New London, was one of three youths drowned when the car in which they were riding plunged into the inner Lake Michigan harbor from a dead-end street in Two Rivers early Sunday morning. He left New London two years ago to work at Two Rivers and was returning from a dance with his two companions when the accident occurred.

Three Youths Die When Car Plunges Into Lake Harbor

Milton Dorschner, Formerly of New London, One of Drowning Victims

A former New London youth, Milton Dorschner, 21, was one of three youths drowned early Sunday morning when their automobile plunged from a dead-end street into the inner Lake Michigan harbor at Two Rivers.

The other victims were Alvin Junker, 22, Manitowoc, and Arnold Neuman, 19, Two Rivers.

Coastguardsmen were called when cries for help were heard at 4:50 Sunday morning but it was not known definitely a car had slid into the harbor until Junker's body was recovered after daylight. Three tracks in the freshly fallen snow established the tragedy.

The car was pulled from the water six hours later with the body of Dorschner caught in the door. Neuman's body was recovered an hour afterward.

Dr. G. A. Rau, county coroner, said there would be no inquest. Junker apparently jumped from the car as it hit the water. His cries

Report Arrests of Jews Continuing in Germany

Berlin—(P)—Jewish quarters said today they had evidence from various parts of Germany that arrests of Jews were continuing.

Many who stayed away from home during the big arrest wave in the anti-Jewish drive that followed the killing of Ernst vom Rath by a young Jew in Paris now are being rounded up quietly, these sources said.

Word also came from the Nazi-dominated free city of Danzig of large-scale raids in a search of Jews within the last few days.

All Jewish boarding houses, hotels and homes in Danzig, Zoppot and Oliva were said to have been searched.

Los Angeles—(P)—Southern California was officially named today to represent the far west in the Rose Bowl football game Jan. 2.

Rescuers Try to Bring Food To Men Marooned in Northern Maine by 2 Severe Blizzards

Aurora, Maine—(P)—Snowplows manned by rescue crews bit into heavy snowdrifts over a wide area in northeastern Maine today, gradually releasing more than 100 hunters and CCC youths imprisoned in the forest region since Thanksgiving.

While rescue units bucked the drifts, a state police-chartered airplane flew over widely-scattered townships in the desolate territory and dropped parcels of food to gesticulating groups.

Aurora, Maine—(P)—Rescuers from three sides today fought their way into the snow-isolated wilderness of northern Maine to bring food to 100 hunters and CCC youths reported cut off by huge drifts piled up by two blizzards.

Early today, state police reported one unit of the rescue parties had broken trail to Mopang lake, five miles east of Beddington, while a second detail approached Eagle lake, several miles to the north. Police did not learn how many hunters were found at Mopang. It was said several women were among the group at Eagle lake.

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The state government's involved financial practices, and the powerful state emergency board, keystone arch of the state's fiscal method, during the weekend were tangled in a maze of legal and political maneuvers which will require the combined efforts of the seven members of the state's highest tribunal to unravel, it appeared today.

Latest development in the contest between the Progressives and Republicans over control of the state's mythical treasury barrel is an action before the Wisconsin supreme court by Governor-Elect Julius P. Heil which is aimed directly at demolishing the power of the state emergency board, headed by his predecessor and retiring governor, Philip F. LaFollette.

Acting as a citizen and a taxpayer, the governor-to-be obtained temporary orders from the state high court to stop payment on any part of the $58,000,121 which Governor LaFollette's "game duck" emergency board—composed of two defeated legislators and himself—ordered paid from the general fund two weeks ago.

Heil started his action in a surprise move late Saturday, only two hours after Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis, in a mandamus proceeding started by the emergency board, had ordered $2,695,269 of the amount paid immediately, and reserved judgment on the balance.

Summon Judge

The high court summoned Judge Reis to appear before it Thursday to show cause why the court should not grant Heil's petition to restrain Judge Reis from taking further action in the case. If the lower court is prevented from taking further action in the case, Heil or other interested parties can bring an original action before the high court to determine whether the general fund transfers are legal.

The puzzling controversy during the last week grew more complicated daily. While the fight is ostensibly over the legality of the

Fixes Blame for Strike Violence

Examiner Names Newberry President, Plant Manager in Report

Milwaukee—(P)—A trial examiner for the national labor relations board declared in an intermediate report to the regional office here today that responsibility for a riot at Newberry, Mich., June 4, 1937, should be placed upon Philip S. Hamilton, village president and manager of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company plant.

Examiner R. N. Denham, who conducted a hearing at Newberry early this month, reported that the company was guilty of discrimination against CIO lumberjacks while encouraging membership in a company-dominated "independent" union. Denham recommended that the company be ordered to:

1. Rebuild and refurbish the union hall which was demolished by an armed mob of villagers which beat up 100 striking lumberjacks.
2. Reinstate eight former employees allegedly discharged for union activity, with full payment of back salaries.
3. Withdraw all recognition of the Independent Industrial union of Newberry and "cease and desist" interfering with Local 15 of the Timber and Sawmill Workers' union.

Woman Confesses She Tossed Son to Death

Seattle, Wash.—(P)—Police Sergeant Harvey Kemper said Maxine Aleid, 25, admitted she tossed her month-old son from a second-story apartment window today. The child was found dead. Mrs. Aleid was taken to a hospital Oct. 27 after she stabbed herself. The baby was born in an emergency operation. Her husband, Luis, 36, is a Filipino. She is white.

A.F.L. Workers Fail to Break Picket Lines

Yard Manager Says No Men Report for Work This Morning

STOCK NOT MOVING

Animal Receipts in Chicago are About One-Tenth of Normal

Chicago—(P)—An attempt by American Federation of Labor workers to operate the Chicago stockyards in the face of a strike called by the CIO apparently failed today.

Thomas Devero, business agent of Local 517 of the A. F. of L. Livestock Handlers' union, had guaranteed to have between 150 and 200 men at work in the huge yards by 6 o'clock a. m.

More than three hours after that time, Orvis T. Henkle, general manager of the Union Stockyard and Transit company, announced that not a man had reported for work. Trading still was suspended. Livestock receipts were about one-tenth of normal.

A. F. of L. headquarters claimed some men had slipped through the picket lines, but no stock was found moving in the yards. William Hunter, chief of the stockyard police, said no working passes had been issued.

Striking CIO handlers had massed more than 250 pickets around the main gate of the yards. Others patrolled four smaller entrances.

100 Policemen Present

Their numbers were augmented by 100 policemen under the personal direction of Commissioner James P. Allman.

Just before dawn a stone was hurled through a glass door of the A. F. of L. headquarters across the street from the main gate. The lock of the door was smashed later. Union officers had to force it to gain entrance.

Large German Plane Takes Off for Tokio; Six Persons Aboard

Berlin—(P)—A fast four-motored Focke-Wulf Condor plane took off today for Tokio with a crew of five and one passenger, to show the Orient, especially Japan, Germany's latest achievements in airplane building.

With only three stops scheduled en route—at Basra, Iraq; Karachi, India, and Hanoi, French Indo-China—it was expected the entire distance of 9,300 miles would be covered in 50 to 55 hours.

Lufthansa officials, however, declared no record would be sought. They said the flight was intended to return the visit of Japan's Divine Wind, which flew here in April, 1937.

But no secret was made of the fact that Japan has been negotiating for purchase of German commercial planes, for which reason the big Condor was chosen to show its pace.

Officials said it would return by way of Batavia, capital of the Netherlands East Indies, and Amsterdam in order to show the Royal Dutch air line that its time of six days between those points can be lowered to four.

The Germans may make a side-trip to Manchoukou, where purchase of German planes also is being negotiated.

It was expected they would be back in Berlin by Dec. 17.

California Fires Add To Threats of Floods

Los Angeles—(P)—Southern California's calamitous series of brush and forest fires, conquered after a loss of $5,000,000 in property and denuded watersheds, sharply heightened today the danger of floods this winter.

Approximately 37,000 acres were burned over in five counties since Wednesday. Chief damage was in the Santa Monica and San Bernardino ranges.

More than 10,000 acres were swept by flames on the mountains behind the city of San Bernardino, creating a grave problem in flood control.

Not only San Bernardino, but Colton, Riverside, Santa Ana and Fullerton would be menaced by the runoff of heavy rains, such as produced a destructive flood last March.

'Phantom Slasher' Is Sought in England

Halifax, England—(P)—Women of this grimy north England town were ordered to remain indoors after nightfall because of a "phantom slasher" who strikes unseen along darkened byways.

The slasher added an eleventh victim to his list early this morning, slipping up behind Mrs. Constance Wood, a mill worker, only a few yards from her doorway.

He knocked her down, hacked through her heavy coat to inflict two gashes in her left arm, and escaped.

Police have been unable to trace the slasher, who has attacked 11 persons within the last seven days. All but two of the victims were women. None was wounded seriously.

ASKS INCENTIVE TAX

Washington—(P)—Gerard Swope (above), president of the General Electric company, told a senate committee today he believed government must adopt some form of incentive taxation if it hoped to induce industry to stabilize employment through an annual wage. The gray-haired industrial leader testified that he "hoped" profit-sharing with employees was "good business," but added "I don't know it."

Name Indiana Man 1938 'Corn King' At Chicago Show

William H. Curry Wins Title for Third Successive Time

Chicago—(P)—William H. Curry, of Tipton, Ind., was named 1938 "corn king" at the International Grain and Hay show today. It was Curry's third successive title. He showed a sample of 10 ears of Reid's yellow dent.

By winning the title today Curry automatically will be barred from competition for three years under rules of the show. No one ever before had won the title three successive years.

The title of corn prince, the premier award to a junior corn grower, went to Richard B. Blackwell, of Franklin, Ind., who also showed a sample of Reid's yellow dent. Blackwell is a student at DePauw university.

Runner-up to Curry with the reserve corn championship was Peter J. Lux, of Shelbyville, Ind., a four-time corn king in past years. Lux won the title in 1919, 1922, 1926 and 1934. His sample was Johnson county white.

Junior Runner Up

The reserve corn championship in the junior division was awarded to Bobby Riggins, of Crawfordville, Ind.

Blackwell took the corn prince title from Melvin Wagoner, of Hammond, Ill.

Curry was here for his triumph today, but left immediately for his home to bring his family back to Chicago. A sleek well-groomed black hog, exhibited by Pennsylvania State college, was selected as the champion Berkshire Barrow of the exposition. The college also showed the reserve champion Berkshire Barrow.

The champion shropshire wether of the show was exhibited by the University of Wisconsin.

Envoys Report to Chief Executive Discuss Oppression of Racial and Religious Minorities

Warm Springs, Ga.—(P)—President Roosevelt held his ambassadors to Germany and Italy here today for further discussions of the problems of oppressed racial and religious minorities abroad.

After a four-hour dinner conference at his isolated Pine Mountain cottage last night, he sent them to bed with instructions to come back to luncheon today to resume the interchange of views.

The conferences are expected to crystallize the developing American policy which thus far has embraced condemnation of persecutions of Jews, Catholics and Protestants in Europe, efforts to protect American citizens and property, and cooperation with other democracies to find foreign refugees for the mistreated.

The German ambassador, Hugh R. Wilson, who was summoned home from Berlin at the height of anti-Jewish violence following the murder of a German diplomat in Paris, and the envoy to Rome, William Phillips, who is home on leave, said they had a most enjoyable meeting with the president last night.

Beyond that they refused to talk for publication as they left the "little white house" to be overnight guests of Will Moore of New York, veteran infantile paralysis patient at the Warm Springs Foundation.

Firemen Rescue Two Women in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(P)—Two women, one of them bedridden and the other overcome by smoke, were rescued by firemen yesterday from a smoke-filled two-story dwelling.

Mrs. Anna Ayliffe, owner of the building, was taken to the emergency hospital after firemen found her lying unconscious in the basement, where she was trying to extinguish a rubbish fire. Mrs. Pauline Ockly, 54, sick in bed, was carried down a ladder. She suffered only slightly from smoke.

French Labor Lines Weaken Under Attack

Stores, Banks and Insurance Firms to Remain Open Wednesday

DEADLOCK REMAINS

Government Determined To Maintain Public Services

Paris—(P)—The Daladier government's campaign today opened gaps in labor lines drawn up for a 24-hour strike Wednesday.

Labor Minister Charles Pomaret announced he had received assurances that department stores, banks and insurance companies all would remain open despite the strike called by the General Confederation of Labor.

Independent unions, including the General Confederation of Christian Workers, also proclaimed opposition to the strike, called to protest Premier Daladier's labor-finance policies.

The deadlock between the government and the principal unions persisted, however.

The unions' determination to strike and the government's insistence that public services be maintained aroused widespread apprehension. Appeals were made to both sides to avoid any dangerous action.

Has Wide Powers

Among the main unions are those of factory, subway and bus workers.

Daladier has been given decree authority to mobilize railroad workers—in effect, to place them under army discipline and subject them to army penalties—but he has not put his power into force.

Deputies of the socialist union group joined war veterans in an appeal to both sides for peace. The socialist union proposed to send a delegation to the premier asking a session of parliament Dec. 12 to rule on the decree laws and to Leon Jouhaux, head of the Confederation of Labor, to ask a postponement of the Wednesday strike.

Labor's impatience was shown, however, by a new strike at Dunkerque where 5,000 metal workers struck in protest against the government's policies.

Chamberlain to Visit Mussolini

Halifax to Accompany Prime Minister to Italy in January

London—(P)—The government announced tonight that Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax would go to Italy during the first half of January to confer with Premier Mussolini in furtherance of Chamberlain's European appeasement policy.

Informed persons described the prime minister as confident that by personal contact with the Italian duce he might set in motion negotiations which would lead to a broad-scale accord among the European big four, Britain, Germany, Italy and France.

Chamberlain already has concluded with Mussolini an agreement for composition of Anglo-Italian differences in the Mediterranean, Africa and the Near East, the Eastern accord which was put into effect Nov. 16.

An announcement of his Italian visit came shortly after the prime minister had told the house of commons that Britain had not committed herself to send an expeditionary force to France in case of war.

Sir Percy Harris, liberal, asked "whether this country is under certain circumstances committed to send an expeditionary force to France and whether as a result of the recent visit to Paris there has been any increase in such commitments."

The prime minister replied brusquely: "The answer is in the negative."

Harris was referring to the Nov. 23-25 visit of Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax to the French capital.

Recover Rifles but Fail to Find Bodies Of 2 Missing Men

Merced, Wis.—(P)—Searchers led by Sheriff Arvie Kyrö yesterday recovered two rifles from the bottom of the Turtle flottage near here but were unable to locate the bodies of two missing hunters.

The sheriff could not learn immediately who owned the weapons.

Dragging of the flottage continued today, one week since four hunters disappeared when their rowboat overturned in a squall.

The missing men are Kaare Dreyer, 35, Wauwatosa, and Edward Polachek, Park Falls, Minn. Their two companions, whose bodies were recovered Friday, were Clyde Bleil, 40, Wauwatosa, and Stephen Manzold, Kaukauna.

Geddon Slayer Is Sentenced to 139 Years in Prison

'You Represent Rich Man's Justice,' Irwin Shouts at Judge

New York—(P)—Robert Irwin, eccentric young sculptor who pleaded guilty to the 1937 Easter morning triple-slaying of Veronica Geddon, attractive model; her mother, and Frank Byrnes, a boarder, was sentenced to 139 years in state's prison today by Judge James G. Wallace. He will be taken to Sing Sing prison later in the day.

Trial of Irwin, specifically for the murder of Byrnes, was interrupted by Irwin's guilty plea before the jury was completed. He pleaded guilty to second degree murder. Irwin's lawyer, Samuel Leibowitz, in offering the plea, told the court the sculptor was "crazy as a bedbug."

Four husky attendants surrounded Irwin as he was led into the courtroom today. Standing before the bar, he made a futile plea to be heard before sentence was pronounced.

"This asking a prisoner whether he has anything to say before sentence is just a farce," cried Irwin. "I have something to say."

"You say you represent justice," he shouted at Judge Wallace. "I say you do not. You represent a rich man's justice."

Prosecutor and Judge Opposing Clemency For Thomas Duncan

Milwaukee—(P)—District Attorney Herbert J. Steffes of Milwaukee and Circuit Judge Gullick N. Risjord of Ashland announced today they had written Governor Philip F. LaFollette opposing an application asking executive clemency in behalf of Thomas M. Duncan, former secretary to the governor.

Duncan is serving a one to two year term in the house of correction on a manslaughter charge in connection with the hit-and-run automobile death of Henry Schutte, 69, retired West Allis business man, the night of March 9.

Steffes, who prosecuted Duncan, wrote in his letter to the governor he was opposing a petition by Mrs. Catherine Duncan for her husband's pardon because the prisoner "has already had the benefit of a greatly reduced sentence through the mistake of the trial judge."

Judge Risjord had found Duncan guilty of first and fourth degree manslaughter but had sentenced him on the lesser charge.

War Department Summons 180 Officers to 2-Day Conference On Mobilizing U. S. Industry

Washington—(P)—The war department has summoned about 180 officers to a conference Thursday and Friday on its program for mobilizing industry in event of war, thus lending new emphasis today to the administration's accelerated defense program.

Other armament developments included:

1. Secretary Woodring's urgent recommendation that the Panama canal be made "impregnable" hinted at new reinforcements for that vital link.

2. Senator Clark (D-Mo.) served notice that advocates of an expanded armaments program would encounter critical and determined opposition in the new congress.

War department officials said the conference on industrial mobilization was the first of its kind nationally and would be attended by procurement planning specialists of the army, navy and marine corps.

Abductors Seize Automobiles in Flight From Michigan

ENTER INDIANA

Both Have Head Wounds, Freed Captives Inform Police

Gary, Ind.—(P)—Three persons seized by a couple fleeing from Michigan state police and sheriff's deputies were released today at Griffith, a small town near here.

Those freed were Henry Matty, Vicksburg, Mich., farmer; Claude Mennis, a gasoline filling station attendant near Vicksburg, and Louis A. Karr, South Bend, Ind., salesman, whose automobile they had seized.

Report to Indiana state police indicated that the abductors were a man and a woman, instead of two gunmen and a woman as first suspected.

The kidnapers, who fought a running gun battle with Michigan police, had taken Matty's automobile when they forced the Michigan men to accompany them.

This car was abandoned four and a half miles south of South Bend when the kidnapers seized Karr and his automobile and transferred their other two captives.

The released trio, taken to Crown Point, told police the man and woman abductors both had head wounds. The car contained a large quantity of dynamite and some rifles, police were told.

The kidnap victims said their abductors headed toward Chicago Heights, Ill., after releasing them near Griffith.

Police placed little credence in a report that an automobile answering the description of the one sought had been seen speeding through Monroeville, Allen county.

G. O. P. Committee To Meet Tuesday At U. S. Capital

Conference May Help Determine Course in Next Campaign

Washington—(P)—Republicans will hold a victory song tomorrow—softly, in order not to irritate Democratic conservatives with whom they want to continue past relations.

The occasion will be the annual meeting of the Republican national committee. The program calls for the study of the situation of the party, but from the realities of the situation it can not wholly exclude thoughts of the future.

Policy-making, either for the coming session of congress or for the long-range future of the party, is not listed among the items up for discussion. Nor is it likely to play any heavy part in the actual sessions.

Won't Reveal All Plans

Yet the meeting will bring to Washington the men and women who have more to say about the party than any other group of congress or any governor. The latter groups are the private and sub-officers on the firing lines and may get their political heads shot off in most any engagement. On the national committee are the generals who operate from bomb-proof headquarters far in the rear.

Just as the generals do not call in reporters and announce in advance their long-range plans for future campaigns, so it is likely that the national committee men will keep up all their party secrets this week.

One reason obviously will be that not even the committee knows exactly what the party will do during the next two years. A policy-making committee has been created and has spent many months of digging. But it will be quite a while yet before it finishes its work.

Hope For Support

In the meantime, the Republican members of the new congress will have largely in their own hands the job of figuring out what they should propose regarding employment, business regulation, and farm relief.

Many of them still hope for a continuance of the alliance with Democratic conservatives which beat down the supreme court bill and several other administration measures during the last congress.

Some Democrats, however, say that if they play around too much with the Republicans, the latter will run away with the ball in 1940.

Among the Republicans themselves the election gains have brought another result, too. They have quieted the talk in Washington that John Hamilton might be replaced as chairman of the national committee.

Charge Violation Of Election Laws Illinois Democratic Head Says Evidence Being Uncovered

Springfield, Ill.—(P)—Chairman Harry Hershey of the Illinois Democratic state committee charged today "wholesale violations of election laws" in the Nov. 8 election "to purchase control of the legislature for the Republicans."

Hershey asserted "agents of the department of justice and state prosecuting officials have uncovered evidence which undoubtedly will be presented to federal and state grand juries within the next few weeks." He added in a public statement:

"Just how many counties were corrupted by this downstate Republican dominated political machine cannot be definitely stated at present, but it is indicated there may be more than a score of them."

"At the present time officials are at work collecting evidence of fraudulent vote casting and counting in Pulaski, Lawrence, Madison and Bond counties. Many more counties are on the list, but officials are reluctant to name the others until their investigations have progressed further."

On the basis of unofficial returns, Republicans won control of the House of Representatives, 79 to 74. Democrats formerly controlled.

Supreme Court to Pass on Orders of Emergency Board

emergency board's extraordinary powers, the whole affair is surcharged with politics.

This was bluntly stated late Saturday by Secretary of State Elect Fred R. Zimmerman, who started the ruckus a week ago.

Zimmerman, at the close of the hearing in the circuit court here issued a statement in which he said that "the suit involving the trust funds both prosecuted and defeated in court today by lawyers appointed by the governor resolves itself into a very simple issue: Shall the incoming administration be handed an empty pocketbook upon which to operate the affairs of the state?"

He added that attorneys of both parties in the circuit court action "are all adherents of the governor."

How It Happened

For a clear understanding of the emergency board and treasury fight, a chronological narrative of events is necessary:

1. On Nov. 16, the LaFollette emergency board without previous notice dished out from the general fund $6,620,121 for emergency appropriations to several state departments, for the fulfillment of the allocations to the state government under the elastic Budget B for the next six months, and more significantly for the retirement of $1,221,000 in ancient Civil war certificates of indebtedness on which past administrations have paid only small amounts in interest and principal, and a $2,700,000 deficit in the teachers' retirement fund which a special surtax on incomes had failed to supply.

2. The action reduced the state treasury balance to about $4,000,000, which alarmed the Republicans, who have been elected to take over the capitol helm on Jan. 2.

3. Secretary of State-Elect Fred R. Zimmerman (a former Republican governor) promptly notified Secretary of State Theodore Dammann and State Treasurer Sol Levitan that he would hold them responsible on their bonds if they honored the appropriations.

Many observers felt that Zimmerman acted with the knowledge and at the suggestion of Heil and other Republican leaders.

4. Dammann and Levitan withheld payment of about $4,000,000 of the amount ordered appropriated by the emergency board, representing the items protested by Zimmerman.

5. Governor LaFollette announced the commencement of mandamus proceedings in the Dane county circuit court to compel Dammann and Levitan to honor the emergency board's appropriations, and he appointed counsel to represent the board and to defend the secretary of state and the state treasurer.

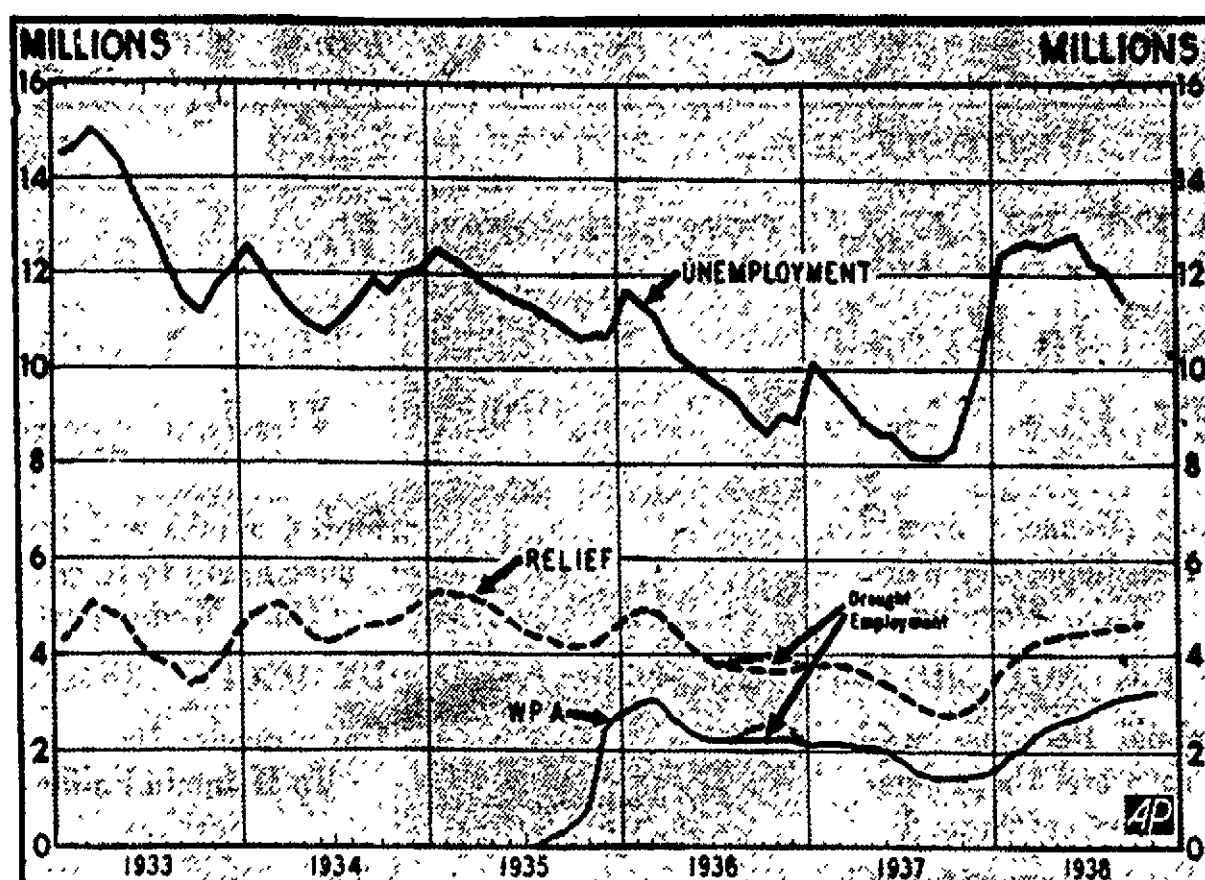

6. At the conclusion of the hearing on the action, Saturday, Judge Reis issued a preliminary writ of mandamus ordering the payment of $2,695,269 immediately. He invited briefs on the two most important items in the disputed appropriations, the Civil war debt payment and the covering of the teacher's deficit. He also refused to allow Zimmerman as a future secretary of state had no interest in that particular action, and could not be bound or otherwise affected by any judgment of the court.

Suggests Appeal

Reis also announced that he wanted his decision in the entire matter appealed to the state supreme court for a final determination.

In his analysis of the issue, Judge Reis said that it resolved itself into a distinction between the 1937 statute conferring powers on the emergency board to release funds appropriated by the legislature, and the old emergency board statute of 1914, which has been held constitutional by the state supreme court.

The old board, which had limited power, consisted of three state constitutional officers. The new board, which has power to reduce state appropriations under the LaFollette budget policy 25 per cent, or to raise them accordingly, and which has power to make emergency allotments, consists of the

Group Would Keep Out Farm Imports

Executive Committee Announces Its Program For Agriculture

San Francisco—(P)—Senate ratification of all trade treaties and exclusion of all farm commodity imports which might increase the number of "idle men or idle acreage" or force sale of American products below cost were advocated in a program announced here by the executive committee of the National Grange.

The program, a 15-point "platform for agriculture, also opposed any legislation leading to "regimentation of farmers" or infringement of state's rights.

Louis J. Taber, National Grange master, said the program, growing out of the recent national grange convention in Portland, Ore., was designed, in general, to elevate farm prices to the "reasonable profit" level and to revise federal farm policies.

The committee advocated "amendment and simplification" of the federal farm act, adoption of a monetary policy that will assure an honest measure of value of reasonable permanency, reorganization of government agencies in the interest of efficiency or economy; self-determination by farmers of their own program; and careful scrutiny of proposed amendments to such acts as the wages and hour law as to their effect on agriculture.

Another plank urged that the farmer be given a fair share of the national income with a program assuring him a reasonable profit above the cost of operation.

At affairs of state in Washington, custom gives precedence to foreign ambassadors over all American officials except the president and vice president.

Season's Over, So Mr. Deer Comes to Visit at Tomahawk

Tomahawk—(P)—Deer, like ducks, are getting to know when they're well off.

Yesterday, two days after the Wisconsin deer hunting season closed a big buck wandered into town. Deer hunters sighed and looked the other way.

The buck ventured out on thin ice over the Wisconsin river and broke through. When firemen came to his rescue, he reached shore by his own power, and high-tailed it out of town.

TVA Officials are Accused of Acting To Prevent Audit

Comptroller General's Office Charges Records Withheld

Washington—(P)—The comptroller general's office charged today that TVA officials had handicapped an audit of the agency's affairs by withholding documents and records.

Stewart V. Tulloss, chief of investigations for the comptroller general's office, told the congressional committee investigating TVA that "we found it very difficult to find records and reports."

He said he and his investigators had spent "months in Knoxville and other places trying to determine the correctness of" certain TVA transactions.

Tulloss said the accounting office "then proposed that the TVA render its accounts to Washington. 'The same as other agencies.' That procedure, he said, had been 'agreed to in part.'"

Accounts Incomplete

"But accounts rendered to Washington are not complete," Tulloss said.

Tulloss said, "certain documents are still withheld, particularly checks."

Tulloss read into the record a letter from R. N. Elliott, acting comptroller general, to Chairman Donahue (D-Ohio) of the committee charging "interference" with the government's audit. Elliott said:

"The principal phases of interference have to do with the attitude of the treasurer of the authority in his early refusal to submit accounts as required by law and the failure of the treasurer of the authority and the treasurer of the United States to forward the pay checks of the authority to the general accounting office as required by law."

Group Would Keep Out Farm Imports

Executive Committee Announces Its Program For Agriculture

San Francisco—(P)—Senate ratification of all trade treaties and exclusion of all farm commodity imports which might increase the number of "idle men or idle acreage" or force sale of American products below cost were advocated in a program announced here by the executive committee of the National Grange.

The program, a 15-point "platform for agriculture, also opposed any legislation leading to "regimentation of farmers" or infringement of state's rights.

Louis J. Taber, National Grange master, said the program, growing out of the recent national grange convention in Portland, Ore., was designed, in general, to elevate farm prices to the "reasonable profit" level and to revise federal farm policies.

The committee advocated "amendment and simplification" of the federal farm act, adoption of a monetary policy that will assure an honest measure of value of reasonable permanency, reorganization of government agencies in the interest of efficiency or economy; self-determination by farmers of their own program; and careful scrutiny of proposed amendments to such acts as the wages and hour law as to their effect on agriculture.

Another plank urged that the farmer be given a fair share of the national income with a program assuring him a reasonable profit above the cost of operation.

At affairs of state in Washington, custom gives precedence to foreign ambassadors over all American officials except the president and vice president.

Heil Declares He Does Not Favor Reciprocal Pacts

Must Empty Warehouses To Help Rural Folks, He States

Milwaukee—(P)—Governor-elect Julius P. Heil declared yesterday he was "against reciprocal trade relationships."

"Our warehouses are full," Heil said, "and we have got to get them empty if we want a little more prosperity for our rural folks."

Addressing the Cudahy Moose lodge at its housewarming, Heil added:

"When we get rid of the things we have on hand, then we can keep people busy at work. First we have got to look after our home and fireside, and never mind the others."

"If you want to send Christmas presents to someone, why don't you send something that will help the home state? Get a side of (Wisconsin) bacon or a ham. Or, if you'd rather send Wisconsin cheese, God bless you, send that. We have got to get our warehouses empty."

Referring to state emergency board appropriations, Heil said:

"I don't want to talk politics, but I'd like to give you food for thought."

Wants "Tolerance"

"These boys are trying to take all our money away, as you've probably seen in the papers. They're not going to hurt me. I'm just one taxpayer. They will not take my money. They're going to take yours out of the tax funds. So I may have to ask you to help."

"I hope these boys will be tolerant and won't take our money. Of course I'm pledged to economy in government and we're going to take men who don't belong to state jobs or those who aren't doing anything and put them to relief."

"I have said and say again, that no man or woman, boy or girl, will go hungry in Wisconsin while I am governor. I don't want people to cheat on me, but I won't have them going hungry either."

Heil repeated his recent statements that more industries would be coming into the state.

Support Appears for Tariff on Farm Products

Washington—(P)—Bi-partisan support appeared in senatorial circles today for enactment of protective tariffs on farm products.

Senator Burke (D-Wash.) a critic of the administration's farm program, said he believed a protective tariff was "No. 1 on the list of the things the farmer will demand from the next congress."

Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, characterized such a proposal as the keystone of a farm program the Republicans expect to offer if there is no material change in the administration's method of dealing with low farm prices.

Chicago—(P)—The Chicago and North Western Railway announced yesterday retirement of Bert E. Terpning, general superintendent, effective Dec. 1, and named F. J. Byington his successor.

Terpning, originally a telegrapher, formerly was train dispatcher on the Minnesota division. In 1919 he was made assistant general superintendent, becoming superintendent in 1924. His home is at Mount Prospect, Ill.

The society awarded a gold medal to Miss Ruth T. Botz, of Berlin, Wis., a senior in the University of Wisconsin for her essay on "Live Stock Farming as a Career."

A bronze medal went to Owen D. Owens, of Montello, Wis., a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Two Canadians, Brothers, are New Grain Kings

U. of Wisconsin Livestock Judging Team Wins Belgian Trophy

Chicago—(P)—With the mythical thrones of wheat and oats "king" already occupied, judges of the international livestock exposition dusted off another royal seat for the corn "king," who was expected to receive his crown today.

While judges cast expert eyes over thousands of ears, growers and spectators paced the long halls of grain, anxiously awaiting their decision.

Interest in the livestock judging also was heightened as open class competition started and a battery of experts cast appraising eyes in search of the eight finalists who will tramp the ring, probably Tuesday, when the beef baron, finest steer in the nation is selected.

Although all livestock judging was suspended yesterday, the grain judges worked throughout the Sabbath and brought forth the kings wheat and oats.

The brothers, Rigby, young Canadian farmers of Wembley in the Peace river valley of Alberta, carried off the coveted premier grain awards.

F. Lloyd Rigby, 23, ascended the throne as "wheat king" and his younger brother, W. Juslyn Rigby, 22, moved on to an adjoining throne as the 1938 "oats king." It was the first time in the history of the exposition that brothers had been awarded both crowns.

A sample of hard red spring wheat of the reward variety, which weighed 67.5 pounds to the bushel, won the premier award.

The "oats king" won with a sample of victory oats.

Influence Between White House And Court Works in Two Ways

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Roosevelt's attempts to influence the decisions of the supreme court were denounced by many senators and others as an interference by the White House with an independent branch of the government. Would they feel the same way about attempts by the supreme court to influence the chief executive? Or is there anything so outrageous about either?

Raymond Clapper Wall Street.

It is a question raised by the surprising revelations of the influence exerted by the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft on President Coolidge, which have become public through William Allen White's new book on Coolidge, "A Puritan in Babylon."

The Emporia editor had access to stacks of Taft's unpublished letters now on file in the library of congress and he offers a picture, new to most of Washington, of the late chief justice, slipping in and out of the White House, advising Coolidge, telling Harry Daugherty he ought to resign as attorney general, opposing the appointment by Coolidge of Charles Warren as attorney general, and discussing Republican political affairs constantly with party leaders, such as Charles D. Hilles, then the old guard New York national committeeman and chief party liaison with Wall Street.

It is a new picture of a supreme court justice in action, and reveals Taft not as an aloof justice, concerned only with passing on cases coming before the country, but as active in many directions, for what he believed to be the public good.

Taft's high place as a counsel adviser apparently developed through an interest in having better judges selected and in breaking up the political racketeering which senators indulge in by controlling judicial appointments, one of their juiciest fields of patronage, because it involves not only the judges themselves but the big fee receivership controlled through the judges.

Taft Told Coolidge to Disregard Senators

Chief Justice Taft is heard telling the new president Coolidge that the country wanted a rest, that "with approaching and present prosperity the people wanted to be let alone." Taft had urged Coolidge to disregard senators and political pressure in appointing judges. Shortly Attorney General Daugherty, who had held over from the Harding administration, called on Taft who hinted that the best thing Daugherty could do would be to get out of the Coolidge cabinet. Taft reported that Daugherty opposed the idea and seemed "very sensitive" on the subject.

The chief justice thought the oil scandal talk was a Democratic and insurgent plot and advised Coolidge to ignore it, which the president did for a time until the heat became too intense.

Editor White reports that the influence of Taft over Coolidge waxed strong.

"Sometimes," he says, "the chief justice dropped in for a chat but as his letters reveal he always had something on his mind. Often the president sent for the former president.

He Even Suggested Some Democratic Judges

"Certain members of the supreme court, notably Chief Justice Taft, desired to bring the president to a realizing sense of the weakness and the wickedness of the liaison between the legislative branch of the government and the administrative branch in naming federal judges. In his correspondence with his brothers, with Charles D. Hilles, with his daughter and his sons, it is obvious that Chief Justice Taft felt it a bounden duty to labor with the new president to break him loose where it was possible from senatorial control in naming federal district judges. The chief justice even suggested that the president appoint a number of Democratic federal judges and went to Harry Daugherty, attorney general, with the proposition."

Political pressure, the politicians' greed for patronage, was too strong and Taft made little headway. But for six years he worked hard on Coolidge to improve the character of judicial appointments.

Will somebody please figure out whether it was more or less un-American for Chief Justice Taft to try to influence the president to appoint more enlightened judges

What's New at the Library

Along with the Christmas decorations going up along the avenue and Yuletide displays in store windows, an indication that the holiday season is not far off is the arrival of several Christmas books at Appleton Public library.

"Christmas Days" by Joseph C. Lincoln is the happy combination of a Christmas story of a Cape Cod family of ship masters written by the best-loved and most successful of all New England authors with illustrations by a famous Cape Cod artist. The action of the story covers three important Christmases in the lives of Rogers and David Day. "Christmas Gift" by Lucy Agnes Hancock is the homey story of a Christmas that might have been just another lonely one for two old people, Mother and Father Marsh, but Joan, their motherless granddaughter, who realizes their loneliness and rouses the scattered family to an awareness of their smug selfishness. Christmas, its origin, associations, lore and literature, is set forth in "Christmas Literature Through the Centuries" by Walter W. Schmauch who has studied the subject over a period of years. He has included historical works, old pamphlets, carols and hymns, with special chapters on authors who specialized in Christmas cheer such as Dickens, Scott, Kate Douglas Wiggin, Tarkington and others.

Two new books by Gladys Bagg Taber, former Appleton resident and daughter of Dr. Rufus M. Bagg, professor emeritus of geology and mineralogy at Lawrence college, are now at the library. They are "A Star to Steer By" a novel with Stillriver, Wis., as its setting, and "Long Tails and Short," a collection of short stories about dogs.

For busy people who have to budget their time, "Smooth Sailing Letters" by L. E. Fralley, was written. It tells how to get rid of rubber stamp phrases in letters, how to give one's personality a chance, to make letters sound as if you yourself were talking.

Amateur gardeners and landscapers will welcome two new books, "Bulbs for Your Garden" by Allen H. Wood, Jr., and "Hedge Screens and Windbreaks" by Donald Wyman. The former gives easy-to-follow directions for planting, growing and propagating all common bulbs as well as less familiar bulbous plants for garden, house and greenhouse, while the latter gives a detailed and practical treatment of the use of ornamental plants, the relative hardness of each and their advantages and disadvantages as hedges.

"The Five Sisters" by William E. Blatz is the study of child psychology based on the Dionne quintuplets. The psychologist who has controlled the training of the quints since they were 10 months old tells the inside story of their development into five individual and charming personalities, no two alike. Illustrations show the progress of the little girls from birth to their fourth birthday.

Holding that American democracy is still a living and creative force, well worth fighting for in the face of harsh and implacable enemies at home as well as abroad, Dr. George S. Counts in his book, "The Prospects of American Democracy," warns people that they must win not by violence but by the ballot and by knowledge. He warns against those who would adopt the ways of Russia, Germany or Italy, saying that we must follow our own special course because of the unique quality of our American heritage.

The most comprehensive survey of American military policy, "The Ramparts We Watch," by a ranking military expert, Major George Fielding Eliot, answers the question, Is America safe from attack? Eliot explodes the idea that America is impregnable or immune from attack, but agrees that the United States does possess "the priceless privilege of defending herself first upon the sea." He says that one of the Hawaiians, Oahu, is the most formidable maritime fortress in the world.

Manners at home and in public are discussed in "Common Sense in Etiquette" by Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman. The matters of introductions and greetings, conversation, correct use of names, letter writing, table manners and parties are reviewed.

Mary Moncure Parker, a radio entertainer who has been with the Columbia chain for a year and a half, is the author of a volume entitled "Monosketches" which is a collection of some of her new monologs. Some of the titles are "At the Tea Shoppe," "Who Drives the Car?" "A Hollywood Stand-In" and "Cupid and the Model Home."

Character Roles Predominate in 3-Act Senior Play

Kaukauna Students Will Present 'Crazy House' Dec. 8

Kaukauna — More opportunity than in most plays for individual characterizations is found in "Crazy House," a 3-act comedy to be presented by high school seniors Thursday, Dec. 8, according to Director James W. Lang. Fully eight of the twelve parts, while fitting into the play as a whole, are dependent more upon the actors themselves, and give full liberty to individual talents.

The laugh-provokers in this production are headed by Mary Jane Garrity, who takes the part of Mrs. Aspasia Beldinker, a lofty-brained optimist with loftier plans for an opera that resembles no opera ever before written. No opera has even been sung like Aspasia sings it, even though she has had twenty years to practice.

Ena Richards acts as Grandma Dimity, an aged shrew with purple hair and a coupon complex, a feminine edition of Ichabod Crane. With ear trumpet in hand, grandma works her angular way into the affairs of everyone who neither wants nor needs her help, especially favoring with her attentions Aay Beldinker.

Here to the Ladies

Aay, played by Clifford Femal, is the only son of Aspasia, and is a real "he-man." He is more interested in inventions, and in acquiring enough skill on a bicycle to compete in six day races than in finding a job. Aay's athletic good looks make him the hero of the ladies and the envy of the men.

Armella Boucher screams through the part of See Beldinker, a diminutive edition of her mother. Although she is always hungry this doesn't interfere with wielding a hammer on the slightest provocation, leaving a trail of destruction in her wake.

The role of Suzy Kloppenhauer is taken by Lorraine Tryman, who at the age of 21 is a formidable sister, but becomes attractive when the optimistic Aspasia Beldinker takes her in hand and teaches her how to express herself. As a result of Aspasia's teachings she discards her distasteful clothes, severe hair dress and horn-rimmed glasses in favor of chic attire.

Cast as Salesman

Robert Niesen appears as Jonathan Q. Pyppus, an egotistic traveling salesman, who finds himself in love with Suzy Kloppenhauer. Jonathan is another edition of the cocksure salesman with a breezy manner and swift tongue. Giuseppe da Botticelli, in the person of John Burns, portrays a stout Italian with a large family, broad accent and hearty laugh. He looks in vain toward Aspasia for appreciation of his singing, and is finally ushered from her home sans ceremony.

A. F. of L. Opposed To Reappointment Of Smith to Board

Conservatives May Line Up With Labor Group, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Although the New Dealers are often twitted by the conservatives for being inconsistent, the occasion will soon present itself when the New Dealers may be

Lawrence

While the American Federation of Labor has started the controversy and announced at the Houston convention recently that it would line up its forces in the senate against approval of the nomination, many conservatives who dislike the labor board and its decisions are preparing to go along with the A. F. of L.

The objections of the A. F. of L. to Mr. Smith's reappointment are not personal, but impersonal. They relate to his decisions and rulings, which, it is contended, are unfavorable to the A. F. of L. and favorable to the CIO. No one has suggested that Mr. Smith is not conscientious in the discharge of his duty or honest in his convictions as to how the Wagner act shall be construed. The whole case against him admittedly is that the A. F. of L. doesn't like his formal opinions.

Didn't Like Opinions

But Mr. Roosevelt didn't like the opinions of certain justices of the supreme court, and the main reason why his "packing" bill was beaten was because it was insisted persuasively by friends of constitutional government that judges should not be changed just because a president didn't like their decisions. The members of the National Labor Relations board are virtually judicial officers.

To threaten their removal because their decisions are disliked by one pressure group is to introduce the political factor. For, if members of government boards and commissions feel they must keep a weather eye on what the special groups think of their decisions lest they find themselves thrown out of their jobs by the political influence of these groups in the senate, then independent judgment by these board members will become a practical impossibility and confidence in the fairness of the decisions will be questioned by the public.

The principle underlying the attack on the reappointment of Mr. Smith is just the same as the effort to make court judges conform to group pressure. Thus, the American Federation of Labor is consistent in opposing Mr. Smith because the A. F. of L. has for years attacked certain justices of the supreme court for their labor decisions and lately the CIO has adopted the same tactics. These labor groups have a political conception of the duties of a federal judge or of a member of a quasi-judicial commission.

Serious Dilemma

But, while the labor groups are insistent that public officers permit "public sentiment" or other politically derived factors to govern their decisions and rulings on points of law, the conservatives inside and outside congress have never championed that point of view. This is why they will be confronted with a serious dilemma if they join in the fight against confirmation of Mr. Smith's appointment. Undoubtedly, many of them will use the controversy as a means of opening up a discussion by congress of the whole operation and administration of the Wagner act, but this is at something by indirection to do something which, if it is done at all, might be justified only if it is a direct effort by a committee to study necessary amendments in the provisions of the law itself. But this has nothing to do with Mr. Smith's capacity to serve as a member of the labor board.

Much prejudice has been built up against the members of the National Labor Relations board on the basis of the whole operation and administration of the Wagner act, but this is at something by indirection to do something which, if it is done at all, might be justified only if it is a direct effort by a committee to study necessary amendments in the provisions of the law itself. But this has nothing to do with Mr. Smith's capacity to serve as a member of the labor board.

Beware Coughs That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

al Labor Relations board on the ground that they are biased in behalf of labor, but it is a noteworthy fact that a proportion of nine out of ten decisions of the board have been upheld by the United States circuit courts of appeals. The truth of the matter is that many opponents of the Wagner act do not recognize plainly that their real objection is to what congress did in waiting the terms of the law rather than to the men who are conscientiously trying to administer the law as it was given them by congress.

May Set Precedent

The case of the Smith appointment to a second term on the labor board may furnish a precedent of far-reaching importance. If a coalition of conservatives on the Democratic side and Republicans should be forced to defeat Mr. Smith, it will be a strange corroboration of the much-denounced theory of President Roosevelt who removed a member of the Federal Trade commission, the late William E. Humphrey, because, as the president wrote frankly, the viewpoint of the commissioner "did not go along with" the mind of the chief executive.

Mr. Roosevelt's contention was repudiated by a unanimous opinion of the nine justices of the supreme court of the United States and the entire conservative group in America applauded heartily. Will they now reverse themselves when the A. F. of L. or any other organization insists that Mr. Smith must be removed because his mind "does not go along with" the pressure groups? This is the question which the forthcoming controversy over the Smith nomination will raise, and it will be interesting to see how the "friends of constitutional government" line up on the issue. Combined Locks — Theodore Tenk, the oldest resident of Combined Locks, who observed his ninety-ninth birthday Thanksgiving day, celebrated the occasion Sunday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ed Wulterkins, where he is making his home.

Mr. Tenk was born in Holland in 1848 and came to this country in 1869 when he was 21 years old and settled in Kimberly. Later he moved to the town of Buchanan, which is now a part of Combined Locks since the village was incorporated. In 1934 his wife died and after living at the homestead for a year and a half, he visited a daughter at Racine and later came back to Combined Locks to make his home.

Grandpa Tenk, as he is commonly called, is in good health; eats three hearty meals a day, reads his daily paper and takes short walks when the weather permits. He likes to talk to his old friends in his native tongue about the old country. While at Kimberly Mr. Tenk worked for the Kimberly-Clark corporation for about a year and was employed at the Combined Locks Paper company for about ten years. In 1913 when the new Holy Name church was built in Kimberly, he worked on the structure with George Van Heeswyk, formerly of Combined Locks and the late Christ Hartjes. He helped build the Combined Locks and Kaukauna ball parks and was employed by the Kimberly Real Estate company.

He was employed as janitor at Combined Locks public school before it was rebuilt into a church which was followed by the erection of a new school. Mr. Tenk was a member of the Holy Name parish at Kimberly until 1926 when Combined Locks organized its own parish.

Mr. Tenk has three children, Mrs. Ed Wulterkins, Combined Locks; Mrs. Peter Menting, John Tan; Racine. There are 11

WHEN THE TAX IS DIRECT THEY COMPLAIN

Bursting with indignation a subscriber writes the Post-Crescent and gives details of how prevailing governmental policies in this country have reduced him and others to a precarious edge.

This man owns a home. He had saved $2,000 and invested the same in Goodrich 5 per cent bonds, the income from which paid the taxes on his home and gave him a little balance.

Now he has read that the Goodrich Company is calling its bonds for payment. The 5 per cent rate which was fair when the bonds were underwritten is no longer attractive to it. It announces that it has been able to borrow the money at an average rate of about 3 per cent. But, complains the subscriber, it has borrowed all this money from insurance companies and the little investor is left out on a limb.

Our subscriber complains because he is directly pinched. Since, most likely, he has an insurance policy, he didn't realize that he was being kicked all over the lot in his dividends or increment on his insurance policy and hence remained dutifully silent until the kicker hove in view.

The case may be cited to indicate how relatively safe are all measures, however gratingly they inflict their hardships, so long as the infliction is not direct but takes a roundabout course.

We have something approaching 60 million insurance policies in this country. Nearly all of them are in mutual companies, that is to say, every cent of earnings go to the policy holders. But these earnings have been having a difficult time of it simply because through artificial means the government depresses interest rates.

Perhaps it considers that thus it is chasing the "money changers out of the temple." Our subscriber never looked upon himself as a money changer and would have sworn that he never set up shop in a temple.

The wrong with administration policies is that in forcing an average rate of 3 per cent on an industrial loan like that of the Goodrich Tire & Rubber Company it is not only absolving a company from paying the higher rate which it could easily afford but is asking the saver and the investor to loan the fruit of his toil at a sum substantially below fair payment for the risk taken.

And even with the brightest industrial man hazards are created on all long time loans.

FOOTBALL POOLS

A football pool card has been generously distributed over the nation every week. Usually it consists of a list of 16 college games and 4 professional games. A person may choose as many teams to win as he likes, but every team he selects must win. If he gets ten winners he receives $100 for the dollar he puts up, or, rather, we should say, a promise to that effect. Odds are further scaled on the number of winners named, even four bringing a promise of ten to one.

It looks rather soft but it is as hard as a steel spike. Actually there are few winners but once in a while there is a killing, and the complaint goes around that when the killing occurs there is no pay-off. This is serious in a tavern sort of way.

According to Michigan newspapers warrants have been issued in several spots because when betters, favored by luck, went to collect, the pool operator had gone into hiding, short thousands of dollars. The cigar stands and barber shops that had sold the pools on a 10 or 20 per cent rake-off hadn't figured on the customary vanishing of the pool proprietor when the profits oozed out of the bottom.

Complainants should not take the affair so somberly. They have in fact been given a splendid demonstration equal in value to a college education, for what university can teach any clearer that something is never to be had for nothing? All of these pools operate upon the same principle: either you lose on your selections because the odds are so heavily against you or you lose anyway because winnings cannot be paid. Pools aren't established and sold to benefit the better. They are established to make money for those who establish them. If they cannot turn in profits with the advantage of the odds the profits are just grabbed anyway.

Instead of throwing the pool makers who decamp into jail they should be brought home and given the title of professor for having contributed greatly to the practical education of the community.

THE WORLD MOVES FORWARD

Conditions of persecution in many spots in the world today should not be permitted to lead to the opinion that the human race is either deteriorating or going back into darkness. In fact, judged by the centuries, the march is constantly forward, persecution is less extensive and "man's inhumanity to man" gradually becoming softened.

The march of progress, however, is highly irregular. Comparisons cannot be made from decade to decade but must encompass much greater spaces of time.

Compare the persecution of today with that of about 600 years ago, in particular, go back to 1348, the year of the Black Death.

Now the Black Death was the most fatal scourge that ever swept over Europe. London lost half its population. Germany lost 1,240,000 people. Estimates of the day place the death toll for all of Europe at 25 millions.

We know now that the Black Death was in fact the bubonic plague and that it was carried by a germ that lived upon the lice that rode upon the backs of rats. Since science has ascertained this fact it has little difficulty in beating this malady into submission. In fact today it seldom appears excepting in the Orient and is almost immediately wiped out as soon as scientists move in and substitute cleanliness for filth.

But in 1348 with death walking up and down every roadway and scattering the disease broadcast men sought out some specific cause and in their terror and ignorance turned to the grossest cruelty.

In the city of Neustadt in West Prussia inquisitors took hold of one Banditono, a Jew, and accused him of spreading the Death, poisoning the well in the vicinity. They put him to torture. That is, they placed ropes firmly around wrists and ankles, ran the ropes over a simple mechanism to pull them taut and increased their stretching power through the operation of a great screw. For 48 hours Banditono withstood the evil eyes of the tormentors as well as the terrible turns of that screw. Then human flesh surrendered as it must always. No person has ever refused a confession of anything demanded by torturers.

The records of the time reveal Banditono's confession written down by the notary:

"I cast a quantity of poison about the size of a nut into the well. I received it in the mummy of an egg from our leader who heads the poison syndicate in Spain. It was made from spiders, owls and loads. I was instructed to fling every Christian and there are thousands of other Jews plotting means of poisoning Christians. As a matter of fact, gentlemen, every Jew over seven years of age is responsible for this scourge."

With the spread of the confession a total of about 6,000 Jews were butchered.

Perhaps six centuries hence the race will look back upon the present period as we do upon 1348. They may view the inquisitors in Mexico, Spain and Germany as we view the men of beady eye and mocking leer who turned their faces toward Banditono six centuries ago.

For the race is ever improving, now and then making great strides forward, and occasionally slipping back a stride or two, but always making some headway in spite of its reverses.

WISCONSIN'S PARDON BOARD

Recently the Post-Crescent ran an article written by its Madison bureau concerning the work of the Wisconsin State Pardon Board, the constant strain on the personnel of this board and the exceedingly difficult decision to be made even when all the facts are cold and conceded.

The public should look at this board carefully and scan its record well because of the sort of work it has done.

The Board was created because of the burning necessity of careful investigation and disinterested recommendation in order to effectively rule upon the stream of pardon petitions that flows unrelentingly into the chief executive's offices and because the governor simply could not find time to attend to these duties.

Now, it may be noted in passing, some of the worst scandals in America have proceeded from acts of pardoning boards. Favors have been granted elsewhere in great numbers to men with blackened records who learned the password of politics and contributed magnificently to campaign chests.

The board in Wisconsin has functioned on a par with the best boards in the country. The governor selected the membership carefully. The recommendations of this board, which in most cases are tantamount to executive action, give evidence that they have been arrived at through the laborious means of honest investigation and with the prime purpose in mind that mercy must first be shown to the law-abiding people of the state who are entitled to protection from vicious or brutal characters.

It might be said that Wisconsin would not tolerate any other sort of board. But it can and should be said that it has the right kind of board.

A Verse for Today
By Anne Campbell

AT THE CONCERT

More beautiful than any melody
We hear together, is the song of you
That bears here at my side the evening through,
I turn and breathe your living harmony.

You are as clear as any perfect strain
The artist plays upon his violin.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—I've heard Paul Robeson sing it, and Jules Bledsoe, too. I've heard the best of them sing it; but I never heard "Of Man River" sung with purer tone or greater emotion than last night when it poured with the mightiness of an organ and the tenderness of a violin from the throat of The Man Who Can't Leave Liquor Alone.

We were sitting, half a dozen of us, over our 3 a. m. sandwiches. During the evening we had been in half a dozen of the town's gayest places. We had listened to what pass in New York as the best bands and the best voices; and we had been, quite frankly, bored.

There was a small piano in the center of the cafe. At it sat a girl playing and singing. Her voice wasn't much good. None of us paid the slightest attention to her. She didn't care. She was playing for wages, not applause.

There were a dozen or so men lounging along the bar. Among them was a large fellow with three days' gray beard and a redness of the face of his. His fingers fidgeted with a highball glass, clapping and unclapping it. His suit was of good material, but rumpled. His white shirt was mussed. His necktie was askew.

These things I had noticed when we came in. Soon, busy with food and talk, I forgot the man completely.

My back was to the room so that I could not see the men at the bar or the tired little piano player in the middle of the floor. None of us had the slightest interest in any of them, anyway.

It was then, subtly insinuating itself onto my consciousness like the dawn that wakes one from sleep, that I heard the Song.

He don't plant 'taters,
He don't plant cotton—

The voice rolled through the smoke-heavy cafe like the tone of a mighty bell, deep, round and pure. Conversation at our table ceased. The babble at the bar became still. The mouth of the bartender which but a moment before had been wagging unchecked, now hung open. Live that of a man who has looked upon a miracle. The room was as silent as death, save only for the voice of the singer.

Take a little drink
And you land in jail—

Even the weary piano player, sensing perhaps that for the first time in her life she was a back-drop to Genius, played an inspired accompaniment.

The man leaned his bulk against the piano. His eyes were hazel blue, and the glaze of liquor windowed them; yet they smiled. His glance moved slowly from side to side, but over the heads of his listeners, as though he were singing to thousands.

His low notes thundered majestically. The high ones rang clear as mountain air. His accent, his enunciation, his delivery were sure and true.

With the song half through, I suddenly remembered him. He had been a singer in the Prohibition era; a top flight singer of great voice and high promise. He had flashed on Broadway, a brief fame. Others came, supplanted; others with hardly half his talent. They, though, had the one thing he lacked: the will power to say No.

The song sent chills down my back—the chills that come when one sees and hears something unbelievably beautiful. Tears came—the tears born both of the greatness of what we heard and the tragedy of a Genius.

Through the mind of every man there—were the drink-fogged minds of the men at the bar—there must have gone the same thought: "Why must such talent—talent that reaches out and stirs the soul of every man who hears it—be imprisoned, like a finely carved toy ship, in a bottle?"

The voice rolled with the smoothness of a becalmed sea to its climax.

But Old Man River
He Jes' Keeps Rollin'
Along.

For a brief second there was absolute silence. It was followed by spontaneous and sincere applause.

The singer walked back to the bar, lifted his glass, and drained it in a gulp. With the cheers still echoing through the room, his throat gave forth loud, mocking laughter.

The "bull" market roared along at a brisk pace Monday, stopping only temporarily to absorb a large volume of selling, which followed the marking up of the call money rate from 6 1/2 to 7 per cent. Extreme gains in the active high priced issues ran from $5 to nearly $20 a share.

The ceremony for laying the cornerstone of the new Alexander gymnasium was to be held Tuesday afternoon as a feature of the semi-annual meeting of the college board of trustees.

University of Wisconsin's title hopes were tossed to the four winds as Minnesota's Thundering Herd ran roughshod over the Cardinal eleven for a 6 to 0 victory. The Badgers threatened three times but were checked in their Big Ten championship quest each time. Illinois defeated Ohio State for the pennant.

With you, my days close down as they begin,
With beauty's pure melodious refrain.

Love is the theme. . . I hear it beating true
And strong in every note, and realize,
As we go homeward under winter skies,
You are the music, and the music you.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — During the Spanish American war a certain Captain Slocum, a retired sea-dog, was sailing around the world alone in a little single-masted skiff about as long as a cottage living room. It was in part a publicity stunt for a cleaning compound.

As he sailed down the coast of Chile the Battleship Oregon overtook him on its race around the horn to join the fleet against Vera Vera.

When the huge Oregon drew abreast of Slocum's bobbing little boat, he hoisted a series of signal flags and the Oregon loosed a blast of good natured whistling in reply as it sped on its warlike way. What Captain Slocum signaled was:

"Let us sail together for mutual protection."

In rough measure that is what now is proposed for the United States and the balance of the American republics to agree to at the Pan American "conference" at Lima, Peru, in December. A difference is that the United States, for several reasons, makes the proposal.

There are some truly up-to-date cruisers and a few destroyers and submarines scattered among the republics but for the most part their fleets are made up of forlorn museum pieces which never would dare venture out of harbor in the face of an up-to-date fleet.

Better Air Forces

The air forces, although meagre, are better. Several of the countries have a limited number of light bombers and fighting planes bought from the United States. Italy and Germany which would be a credit to any air fleet. But scattered as they are over a whole continent, adjacent islands and parts of another continent, they would offer no substantial resistance to attack.

Ground forces are large in number, even in comparison with the U. S. army, but modern equipment in large part is limited, especially in the zones of coast and field artillery and mechanized units.

Best equipped in all respects are, of course, the larger "ABC" nations: Argentina, Brazil and Chile. Best equipped of these is Argentina, whose attitude toward the United States is far less fervidly friendly than the others.

Argentina Powerful

Argentina has two 1915-battle-ships with 12-inch guns, four new light cruisers, nine destroyers and seven building, three submarines, 28 miscellaneous auxiliaries, perhaps 150 military planes, a standing army of 30,000 and a half million reserves.

Brazil has two ancient battleships lately refurbished, two ancient cruisers, eight old destroyers and three building, four recent submarines and three building, two dozen miscellaneous auxiliaries, an air fleet of unreported strength but reliably estimated as approaching Argentina's, and a standing army of 94,000, with 200,000 reserves.

Chile has one 1915 battleship, four 1890's cruisers, eight aged destroyers, three middle-aged and six aged submarines, 17 auxiliaries, an unlisted number of planes but likely 75 to 80, a standing army of 30,000 and 177,000 reserves.

Other Countries Weak

There isn't a corporal's guard of sea or air power in the other countries.

All in all, the ineffective armament in the southern zone emphasizes, perhaps more than anything else, that what the U. S. hopes to accomplish at Lima is to build up a friendly instead of fearsome acceptance of one thing. It is, that defense of the western hemisphere, in spite of all international spoofing about cooperation among the republics, is a job for the United States, and it alone.

Practical, Joke Ad In Badger Magazine Results in Apology

Madison—University of Wisconsin officials took a hand today in the furor caused by a practical joke advertisement in the Octopus, a student publication, which purported to have a prominent coed residence house offering "Luscious" lovely girls for dating possibilities.

The unauthorized advertisement, signed off with a "lots of fun" statement, said that jitterbugs, screwballs, reeferers, English majors and phry eds could be dated up by calling a telephone number on Howard place.

Alex Jordan and his wife, owners of the Villa Maria, a private home for girl students which operates under university supervision, objected strenuously today to Scott H. Goodnight, dean of men.

The dean summoned Myron Gordon, Milwaukee, editor of the Octopus, before him to furnish an explanation and an apology. Later he sent Gordon to see the proprietors of the Villa Maria, who said they were not satisfied with a mere apology.

Dean Goodnight was unable to say today whether any further action would be taken.

MAN SLEEPS BY BALLOON

Fearing something might happen to the balloon before it begins its flight to the stratosphere, Captain Burzynski, famous Polish army officer, sleeps beside it every night in the Chochołowa Valley of Poland. The balloon is called the "Stella Polonia" and it is expected to reach a height of 19 miles.

Captain Burzynski and Dr. Jolko Nariewicz, Polish scientist, will shortly attempt their record trip, according to Warsaw reports.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

VALVULAR INCOMPETENCE

Provided the heart itself, consisting mainly of involuntary muscle, is well nourished, that is, has an unhampered supply of blood thru the coronary arteries, and the blood brings the quantity and quality of nutriment required, notably among other essentials, sufficient vitamin B complex and vitamin D, its functional efficiency or competence to maintain good circulation under varying circumstances of rest, work, play or strain, will depend upon the state of the heart valves.

It is not perversely nor a desire to make the problem more difficult that causes me to inject the vitamin B into a talk about heart efficiency. Whether there is a valvular lesion or leakage or not, recent observations by good clinicians in large hospital wards have proved that habitual or prolonged deficiency of vitamin B complex and sunshine vitamin D must be considered a factor in the crippling of the patient by loss of heart efficiency in the majority of cases. Patients who are compelled to give up work and spend many weeks in bed or at rest because of dilated heart or decompensation or impairment of the capacity of the heart to maintain adequate circulation, recuperate in considerably shorter time and recover fitness to work if they receive extra large rations of vitamin B complex and sunshine vitamin D during disability. By the same token, any one whose heart is so handicapped, is less likely to suffer from such loss of compensation or from cardiac dilation, if he or she gets enough of these vitamin every day.

In order to understand what valvular disease or incompetence or leakage means one must know that there are four chambers in the heart. These chambers are, as the blood circulates, first the left auricle into which freshly oxygenated or purified blood comes thru the large pulmonary veins from the lungs. From the left auricle the blood passes thru the mitral valve into the left ventricle during diastole in the interval between the contractions or beats of the heart. When the heart beats, the mitral valve closes, preventing return of blood from the ventricle, and the blood is pumped out into the great artery or aorta thru the aortic valve. Following this contraction or systole, during the rest interval between contractions or diastole, the aortic valve is closed so no blood can return to the ventricle from the aorta, but instead the elasticity of the great artery propels the blood along thru the smaller arteries. Eventually the blood reaches the smallest arteries, called arterioles, visible only thru microscope. Then it passes into the capillary spaces—not vessels, mere spaces between the cells; the blood on the tissues where interchanges of oxygen and carbon dioxide occur, is no longer in blood vessels, but rather is seeping thru the tissue substance as water seeps thru sand.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Vitamin B and Deafness

Please repeat the instructions you gave recently for the vitamin B treatment of deafness. It was reported as successful in some few cases of chronic deafness. (T. E. G.)

Answer — Anyway it is harmless, and may improve the general health or vice even if it fails to help the deafness. A fair trial would be a daily ration of 1000 units of vitamin B to supplement the diet. This should be continued for a period of six or eight weeks. If any improvement is noticed, the vitamin B should be continued indefinitely—remember, it is food, not medicine. How to get 1000 units of vitamin B is not so simple. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask how. One way is by consuming six ounces of wheat germ daily—a rather large order for most persons.

Your Birthday

"SAGITTARIUS"

If November 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 A. M.; from 1 to 3 P. M.; and from 8 to 10 P. M. The danger periods are from 7 to 9 A. M.; from 8 to 8 P. M.; and from 10 P. M. until midnight.

You may have an inspiration, which, if utilized, might be of value. This is a day that will require your concentrating on whatever you do. Avoid doing things in any old way, for in negligent methods trouble seems to be brewing. It will be advisable to maintain a neutral position in matters involving disputes, in which you are not concerned. Do not ignore your own interest in trying to be of service to anyone else, for self-sacrifice seems to be back of many of the injustices that will be done this day. Through some social activity you may see your way clear to get something you have wanted for a long time. This might be an auspicious time to ask favors, or to negotiate business deals. Be on guard if tempted to make criticisms in public places, for it might be dangerous. Married and engaged couples, as well as sweethearts, had best look to their own laurels this day, instead of attaching no importance to them.

If a woman and November 29 is your birthday, you appear to be bound to find a happy solution for all your troubles, if you courageously face them and have faith in yourself. You should be entering a very auspicious period for the advancement of your happiness and freedom from care. You may be facetiously frank, and it might pay you to sugar-coat your words, and to think twice before expressing yourself too freely. A political, artistic, musical, literary or medical career might bring you both fame and fortune. Your husband, in all likelihood, will defer to your wishes, and add greatly to your happiness.

The child born on November 29 after passing adolescence, probably will show a remarkable amount of mental and spiritual growth. Through high standards and lofty ideals there is, apparently, no limitation to be placed on its opportunities.

If a man and November 29 is your natal day, you ought to have good taste, and the ability to do things in an artistic way. As a pharmacist, chemist, architect, explorer, botanist, educator, actor, artist or salesman you should be able to make a fine impression on the public in general and accumulate a bank account worth having.

Eighteen will "escape" from Montjoy Prison in Dublin, Ireland soon, and there will be no attempt to capture them. While cameramen turn cranks the real prisoners will be closely guarded in their cells. By special permission of the authorities a film will be made showing how 18 political prisoners made a sensational getaway from the fortress during the "troubles."

Hunters Return From North As Deer Season Ends; Yarns Will Outlast Venison Steaks

The end of the deer season Saturday brought hunters of Appleton and vicinity swarming back from the Wisconsin north woods where a good share of them brought down handsome bucks and all of them collected more yarns to spin during the quiet winter months.

Chester Smith, 426 W. Winnebago street, was one of the fortunate hunters, shooting a 225-pound animal east of Wabeno. Joseph Hennes, 523 N. Mason street, killed a 140-pound specimen in Florence county.

Kimberly hunters had plenty to show for north woods expeditions. Clency Coates and Lawrence Hopfensperger, who took their wives with them on a foray into Oneida county, reported the party had two bucks by 11 o'clock on the opening morning of the season. Gustave Hanges and Clarence Herzfeldt, who hunted near Niagara, and Felix Muellemans, who roamed the woods near Lake Mercer, were successful.

A Kimberly party consisting of Joe Friebe, Willie Behrendt, Clarence Hooyman and several others returned from Pickeral lake with a buck.

Dr. B. J. Ouellette of Kimberly reported that two deer were bagged by members of his party, Matt and Henry Busch, William Van Zee-land, Cy De Groot, Jack Hammen, Joseph Koehn, and Frank Weyenberg.

Policemen Successful

Two Neenah policemen returned Saturday from northern Wisconsin where their marksmanship assured them both of plenty of venison steaks. They were David Lager and Elmer Reinke. Gilbert Reinke, the latter's brother, scored too.

George Wolf, Hilbert, Will and Irvin Wolf and Will Jaeger, Chilton, returned Sunday from their outing in Florence county with two bucks. At Fremont, Lyndon Schmidt is having venison off the flanks of an animal he killed in the north woods.

Peter Laux, route 1, Menasha, and his sons, Earl and Bert, each knocked over a 90-pound buck in the Florence county region. Walter Evers, route 1, Little Chute, has 200 pounds of deer to show for his expedition.

From Shiocott come reports of deer hunting prowess, with the following men chalking up the 1938 season as successful: Henry, Al, Glen, Clark, Robert, Dale, Len, and Harold Van Straten, Donald and Willis Andrews, Harold Anthony, Clarence Knorr, James Payten, Wil-joren, Carl Dengel, and Edward Alesch.

C. Hayward, Weyauwega; and Fred Saxman, Chicago; Junior Hantschel did better than his father when he shot his first deer, a 185-pound 10-point buck. His father failed to get a shot.

ment in an especially precarious position," he reported.

"We must greatly augment our air forces and our anti-aircraft installations in the Panama Canal Zone. The Panama canal must be made impregnable."

Senator Clark expressed in an interview his personal opposition to a large part of "this talk about the need for more national defense." He charged that militarists and "super-navy" groups were using "war hysteria as a cover for another pump priming program designed to aid heavy industry."

New York —(AP)—A plan for training 100,000 civilian pilots and 125,000 mechanics at government expense during the next five years to buttress the national air defense has been agreed upon by the army air corps and the civil aeronautics authority.

It must hurdle the scrutiny of President Roosevelt, to whom the scheme is scheduled to be presented late this week, and obtain the approval of the new congress meeting in Janu- before it could become effective.

Intended as part of the air re-armament program under contemplation by the administration, it would give the United States an air force reserve numerically approximating that which Germany is reported reliably to have at the present time.

Borden Keeps His Post Under Heil

bookkeeping involved if the securities division were returned to the jurisdiction of the public service commissioners.

Borden replied that it would only be a matter of transferring the administrative balance that would be left for the remainder of this fiscal year if such a change were made.

He also questioned the advisability of permitting credit unions, which are now under banking department control, to loan or invest money beyond the demands that are made upon them.

He expressed the view that credit unions, whose capital is furnished by employees in a given factory or plant, often are supervised by persons who have no schooling in finance and that there is the danger some investors might have a serious loss.

"We don't want to put everybody in the banking business," he said. "I wonder how far we should go in encouraging competition with legitimate business solely for the convenience of employees."

Favors Formula

"I think we should have a definite formula written into law on the matter of credit unions. Emergencies arise where employees need money but the authority of credit unions ought to end by taking care of those who, earning their living by the sweat of their brow, cannot be cared for in the channel of the banks."

Banking Commissioner Joseph P. Cleary said the commission already had decided that credit unions should not go too far in loans or investments and that these organizations were regarded primarily as benevolent institutions whose assets should not be larger than their needs.

Heil asked the senators and assemblymen present to make a note of the credit union law since "there may be some new legislation needed."

The new governor will have a complete diagnosis of total budget requests when all departments have been heard. This probably will take about two weeks.

Under their highest budget allotments, which require emergency board approval, all departments, including those which disburse state aid, were allotted about $66,000,000 for the current biennium.

HEALTH QUERIES ANSWERED

Question: How will Chiropractic adjustments get results in liver trouble? My doctor tells me that my liver and gall bladder are affected. Please answer in your column. Mrs. F. S.

Answer: When the misplaced vertebra (small bone) of the spine is put back into place with repeated adjustments, the human electricity or nerve force is turned on to the sick liver and at once it begins to get well. The twist in the spine pinches the nerve trunk and stops the vital force from flowing normally from brain to organ. This life force has built the organs and it is capable of keeping them well if it can express itself normally over the nervous system which consists of brain, spinal cord and nerves.

Question: I am troubled with heart disease. Will Chiropractic adjustments help me? F. B. A.

Answer: In a majority of heart diseases, yes. The heart does its work perfectly and remains healthy and strong as long as the nerves supplying the life to it are not interfered with by pressure. Chiropractic adjustments will remove that pressure.

Question: How can I prevent colds? H. B.

Answer: Colds are the result of lowered body resistance, and especially a weakened state of the membranes involved, usually nose, throat and bronchial tubes. Having colds indicates poor body elimination. Chiropractic adjustments strengthen resistance by restoring normal function to tissues which are subject to lowered resistance and at the same time promote elimination from the body. Right here I might say that the basis of disease is pressure on nerves at the spine interfering with normal function to the organs or body. Take Chiropractic for health. For your appt. phone 4319W.

The Purpose, Measure of American Armament

While there is substantial agreement in this country that the American defenses need to be strengthened, there is also a healthy objection to an hysterical and ill-considered armament program. In order that there should be no stampede, we must ask ourselves on what principle we should now be acting in order to determine the extent and the character of the new armaments? How ought we to go about the task of determining how much to arm and in what way we should arm?

In discussing this matter, "The Baltimore Sun" argues that "a well-planned armament program" must be based on reasonably definite answers to these questions: first, beyond continental United States and the Panama Canal, what else do we have to defend; second, what power or combinations of powers "shall we conceivably be called upon to fight," and what powers, if any, might fight as allies on our side; third, how far may we count upon the co-operation of the Latin-American republics?

These are searching questions, but I venture to believe that they can be answered at this time.

Coalition No Good If One Can Be Defeated

"The Sun" would like, for example, to be told "in definite terms" whether we are threatened by a combination of powers, and whether we shall have any allies. But if you put the question that way, you are assuming that all the other nations know exactly what they intend to do, and that we, alone, have to make up our minds about how to prepare ourselves. This, surely, is an unreal assumption. What we will greatly influence what they do.

To demonstrate this, let us suppose first that we decided to disarm completely, to tow the Navy up the Mississippi River, and to leave it there till it rusted and fell to pieces. Is it not evident that the idea of combined aggression from Europe and Asia in the Pacific and South America would immediately cease to be a vague possibility and become practical politics? And is it not evident that if we were disarmed we should have no allies whatever, either in Europe or in this hemisphere?

Now, suppose on the contrary, that we are sufficiently strong to hold at bay an aggressor in one ocean while we defeated an aggressor in the other ocean. Is it not equally evident that if there existed no doubt about our ability and our will to be that strong, the chances are that a combination against us would never be formed? It would not be formed because it would be realized that a coalition is no good if either partner can be decisively defeated. And is it not also evident that because we were that strong, other nations which felt themselves menaced would in their own interest align themselves on our side, not only in war itself but in pre-war diplomacy?

Latin America Will Stay With Strong U. S.

The same reasoning applies, I think, to "The Sun's" third question in regard to the attitude of the hemisphere defense. If they see that we cannot or that we will not defend this hemisphere, they will be naturally disposed to find friends or allies elsewhere, and to make the best bargain with them that they can. If, on the other hand, they see that we mean what we say and have the means to do it, they will be far more likely to believe that their fundamental interests and ours are, as regards national defense, the same.

European experience, since 1936, has made this quite clear. Since Munich, the smaller states of Central Europe have had to come to terms with Germany. But the event which prepared this situation was the reoccupation of the Rhineland, and the failure of the British and the French to keep pace with German armaments. The western democracies were separated from their central European allies when it was no longer clear that the western powers could and would be able to defend them.

For the fact of the matter is that strength attracts allies and disrupts hostile coalitions whereas weakness repels allies and encourages hostile coalitions.

For that reason we cannot ask ourselves whether we are arming against a combination of powers and whether we shall have allies. We must say, on the contrary, that the object of arming is to prevent the formation of a coalition of powers against us and to attract to our side a combination of allies.

Army Will Fight Only in Western Hemisphere

If we are clear in our minds that the purpose of our armaments is to make war against our vital interests impracticable, the measure of the armaments we shall need becomes reasonably clear. We have no vital interests that we mean to defend with arms either in Asia or in Europe. But it is our vital interest that Asiatic or European imperialism shall not be able to cross either of the two oceans, and that being unable, it shall not think of attempting it. To defend this vital interest, we have to be able to defeat decisively a potential enemy in either of the two oceans, and at the same time to hold at arm's length a potential enemy in the other ocean.

That does not mean two navies. It means one navy that is clearly stronger than the strongest of the aggressive powers. And then it means the defense of the Panama Canal, and an auxiliary force capable of containing an enemy in one ocean while the navy was defeating an enemy in the other ocean. It does not mean a great army. For it may be taken as the settled conviction of the American people that an American army will fight only in this hemisphere.

It's Not Too Early To Begin Preparations

A program cut to this measure is not only defensive but preventive. It is defensive in that it is designed only to enforce with arms the security and independence of the United States in this hemisphere. It is preventive in that a program of this sort is the surest and the only possible guarantee that a hostile combination for aggression will not be formed.

If the program is to be truly preventive, the sooner it is adopted and acted upon the better. For modern armaments cannot be improvised quickly. Plans have to be built. Men have to be trained to manufacture the weapons and to use them. No one can attack us today. Probably no one could conceivably attack us in the next two or three years. But no one could attack Britain or France in 1938. By 1938 the situation had changed, and it had changed because the Germans started early and worked hard, whereas the British and French started late and did not work hard.

Therefore, this is not too early to start large scale preparations for dangers that might develop in the next few years. If we do make the preparations now while there is time, we may be fairly certain that the very fact that we are sufficiently well armed will discourage before it is seriously attempted any aggression which might compel us to go to war.

Miniature Woodlands Make Ideal Presents for Shut-ins

BY CLARA HUSSONG

If you like woodland landscapes you can have a miniature reproduction of a living forest scene right in your home all through the winter months. In sheltered woods you can find dozens of tiny plants, still fresh and green, which you can use to build up your miniature woodlands.

Terrariums, "gardens under glass," are becoming more popular each year and they can be made with little effort and at a small cost. All you need is a glass-covered bowl or aquarium, either round or square. This bowl can be of any size but the larger, the better, because then you have room to add such extra material as a mossy stub of wood or a bit of lichen-covered rock to give your landscape a more natural look.

Variety Is Desirable

The material for making your miniature woodland can be gathered in any wood, but a rich hardwood forest is a good place to get a variety of plants. At the time of this writing the ground is still soft and unfrozen. You can find plenty of tiny ferns, mosses, lichens, evergreen vines and other tiny green plants which can be dug up with little effort.

After the ground is frozen you can still find any of these plants by kicking away dry leaves, or looking for them in sheltered hollows around decaying stumps or under protecting shrubbery. Unless the ground is very hard you won't need a spade to dig up the plants, a large spoon or knife will do.

On fallen trees or old stumps you will find many attractive varieties of mosses and lichens. Some of them are feathery or plume-like in appearance, others are shaped like rosettes, discs or have a ribbon-like outline. One of the prettiest of our native lichens is the scarlet-crested kind, a gray-green form topped with tiny crimson cups. You will find this flowery-looking lichen on dry, decaying logs and stumps.

In this same woodland you will find tiny ferns, the fronds only an inch or two in length. Dig a few of these up, taking care to dig up enough of their own soil so they will get a good start in their new quarters. In my own terrarium this year I have two kinds of ferns, the common woodfern and the crested shield, both of which are evergreen.

Besides mosses and ferns you will want some flowering plants. Tiny violet and goldthread plants can be found even at this season in damp woods. If you are doing your gathering in an evergreen wood you may find partridgeberry, a dainty little vine having small evergreen leaves and scarlet berries. This vine can be used if your bowl is not too small. Besides the plants, gather a few handfuls of the rich, peaty woodland loam for the bottom of the bowl.

The directions for planting your garden are as follows: Prepare a mixture of the following: one part sand, three parts peat or rich loam, one part coarse drainage material this is, coarse sand or gravel, cinders, or broken bits of pottery. To this add a little crumbled charcoal.

Ferns Must Be Cut

Make a crumbly mixture of these materials. If it appears too dry add a few drops of water, just enough so that it clings together but does not cake. Fill the bowl about one-fourth full with this mixture. Then plant your mosses, ferns and other plants, distributing the different varieties so as to give a varied and colorful effect.

You will find that you have probably gathered much more material than your bowl will hold and will have to cut up the sections of moss in smaller pieces. Place a bit of dark-green, velvety moss next to the gray-green reindeer lichen and plant your violet or other flowers, fern, or variegated vine between the clumps of moss. Press the plants firmly against the soil under them.

The woman who gave me my first terrarium accompanied me this year on my material gathering trip. "After you've planted the ferns, cut off the tops," she told me. I hadn't the heart to do so after I saw them arranged so prettily in the bowl, but now I wish I had. No matter how tiny the ferns look in the wood, they always appear too large in their new home. But cutting off the tops, new shoots come sooner, and these invariably grow no larger than their crowded quarters permit.

Keep Closely Covered

After everything in your garden is arranged to satisfy, cover the jar with a glass top and place the bowl in a sunny window. It will need very little further care. If the directions have been followed carefully and if your cover is air-tight you will not need to water the plants. On the other hand, you will occasionally need to leave the cover off a few minutes to allow the excess moisture on the sides of the glass to dry. Occasionally a section of plants begin to get moldy. This should be removed and fresh plants put in their place.

One of the biggest enjoyments you get from watching these miniature woodlands is to see the many new plants emerging, tiny fronds and vines whose roots or seeds were buried in the mossy soil and who surprise you by their sudden appearance. These baby conservatories make ideal Christmas gifts for shut-ins or for any others who love our native woodlands.

Class D Baseball Looms As Possibility in 1939

Clarence Baetz, Appleton, Chairman of Temporary Group
INTEREST IS HIGH
Committee Named to Rush Completion of Valley or State Loop

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
THE possibility of a Class D baseball league in the Fox river valley, or the state generally, loomed brightly today following a meeting here yesterday afternoon at which the matter was discussed and a temporary organization formed to rush completion of plans.

Clarence O. Baetz, Appleton, for many years president of the Wisconsin State league, was named chairman and Otto Kaufman, Sheboygan, secretary, of the temporary organization. A committee composed of Dave Smith, Appleton, J. Gaserowitz, Oshkosh, Joe Clusman, Green Bay, and Kaufman, was named to rush completion of the temporary circuit so that it might be made permanent as soon as possible.

Cities represented at the meeting were in several instances ready to enter a league. Others were indefinite while still others showed interest but were not represented.

Harry Smith, Columbus, Ohio, representing Joe Carr, promotional director for the National Association of Minor Baseball leagues, and who contacted the various cities, talked briefly about the Class D setup and was followed by Herman White, Eau Claire, president of the Northern league, a Class D circuit.

White answered a battery of questions regarding Class D ball in his circuit ranging from the initial cost of a team to who took care of the park and the size of the various cities. He mentioned that in size, the cities range from Winnipeg, Canada, with several hundred thousand people, to Crookston, Minn., with 6,300.

During the meeting it developed that the setup in the various cities was as follows:

Green Bay—Reported ready to go with a park and a light plant.

Sheboygan—Every thing in readiness for Class D ball.

Appleton—Assurance by the recreation committee of the common council that in the event a league is formed everything possible will be done to help improve the local park.

Madison—Madison was not represented but it is known that Eddie Lenahan will turn to Class D ball if a league is formed. Field and lights are available.

Racine—Racine wired that it would be interested if a league was formed.

Wisconsin Rapids—Indefinite at the moment. The Rapids has the plant and lights. It long has been interested in Class D possibilities.

Kaukauna—Nothing definite stated at the meeting. However, it expressed the opinion informally that if a valley league was organized it would be interested.

Menasha—Menasha representatives called while the moguls were eating and expressed interest but did not remain for the meeting. Menasha has a new improved park and a concrete stands.

Oshkosh—Oshkosh expressed the thought it would go if a connection could be made with a Class AA or major league team. It has the fair grounds for a park.

Fond du Lac—Fond du Lac was not represented and interest appears to have slipped since the county board turned down a request for lights for the new field at the fair grounds.

Clintonville—Has the plant but couldn't express opinion.

Manitowoc and Two Rivers—No expression, no representation.

Persons attending the meeting were as follows:

Appleton—Harry Sylvester, W. H. Ryan, Ben Pfeiffer, Dave Smith, R. H. Kubitz, Bob Becker, George Brautigam and Gordon McIntyre.

Wisconsin Rapids—Carl Yeske and Chuck Trevelan.

Oshkosh—J. Gaserowitz.

Green Bay—Joe Clusman, G. W. Calhoun, Sham O'Brien, Richard Smith, Wilford Baye, and Pat McClough.

Sheboygan—A. O. Kroos and Otto Kaufman.

Clintonville—Len Goerlinger.

Kaukauna—John Coppes, Leo Schmalz, Ray Nagel, Harry McAndrews and Ben Peck.

Milwaukee—Louis Nahun, business manager of the Milwaukee Brewers, and Rudy Schaefer, assistant.

Eau Claire—Herman White and Irving Barager.

Neenah Cagers in 32 to 23 Victory Over Shorewood

Dan Schmidt, Center, Paces Rockets With 13 Points

NEENAH—A rangy Neenah high school basketball team scored a 32 to 23 victory over Shorewood High school of the Milwaukee Suburban league at the Neenah gymnasium Saturday night in the first home game of the season for the Red Rockets. Dan Schmidt, center, paced the Rockets with three field goals and seven free throws for 13 points.

The Red Rockets started cautiously but after taking the lead midway through the second quarter were never forced. The first quarter ended at 4-all but the Shorewood team went into an 8 to 5 lead after four minutes of the second quarter. Then Warren Kettering scored a basket when a Shorewood fast break was stopped and Kettering remained all alone under the Neenah basket.

Schmidt put Neenah ahead with a goal from under the hoop and then added one of two gift shots to make the score 10 to 8. Buxton Kettering came through with a push shot to make the half score 12 to 8 in favor of Neenah.

Control Ball
Neenah held control of the ball through most of the second half, taking their shots only after they worked the ball in under the basket. Defensively they spread a net that kept Shorewood team at long range. The game got progressively rougher in the final stages as Shorewood strove desperately to gain possession and the Neenah cagers made individual dashes down the floor with Shorewood devoting its efforts to offense.

During the third quarter Shorewood trailed by margins varying between four and eight points. During the fourth quarter Neenah never had less than a seven-point advantage.

Schmidt started the second half rally with two baskets and four free throws broken up by two field goals by Pedginne to make the score 20 to 12. Hughes scored a point on a foul by W. Kettering but Bronson missed the gift shot on Kettering's fourth personal. Foster counted a field goal and then matched gift shots with Hesselman. Peterson counted from the charity line to make the third quarter score 22 to 16.

Get 5 Free Throws
The Shorewood team was held to seven points during the fourth quarter of which five came on free throws. The Red Rockets counted 10 points with Hesselman dropping in six on three field goals. One of his baskets was scored on a solo dash with both Neenah and Shorewood players on the floor like a football game.

Hesselman took second high scoring honors for the Rockets with seven points while Peterson had five points. For Shorewood, Foster was the leading scorer with one basket and five free throws for seven points. Hughes and Pedginne had five points each.

Neenah made 11 field goals and converted on 10 of 16 free throws. They were charged with 13 fouls. Shorewood made only six field goals and made 11 out of 19 free throws. They committed 12 fouls.

LeRoy Fry High In Scoring Race

Texas Back Accounts for 40 Points in Tilt for 133 Total

New York—Football's last week gave the nation's individual scoring stars their worst (or best, if you will) juggling of the season and moved LeRoy Fry of Texas Arts and Industries back into the lead.

He accounted for 40 points in a game with the University of Mexico last Tuesday for a season's mark of 133 points.

This sent him soaring past Gavlon Smith of Southwestern (Tex.), who did not play, and kept him well ahead of Sammy Roeder, the Franklin and Marshall fullback who took over the eastern leadership with 107 points.

Aside from the considerable revision in the sectional leaders' ranking on a national basis, no less than three of the season's standbys lost their spots entirely.

Roeder eliminated Everett Elkins of Marshall in the east when the Thundering Herd's final game was snowed off the calendar. Lloyd Geiger of Carthage (Ill.) replaced Irwin Schultz of Augustana (S. D.) in the midwest with 76 points and Ken Heiner, an ex Texas School of Mines displaced Bill Dwyer of New Mexico in the border conference with 71 points.

Wilbur Van, Green Bay, vs. Sonny Batson, Chicago, 6 rounds at 128 pounds.

Archie LeMay, Neenah, vs. Billy Borchert, Appleton, 4 rounds at 165 pounds.

GREEN BAY—The first professional boxing show in the Fox river valley in nearly two years will be held Monday at the Green Bay Columbus club under sponsorship of the newly organized Valley Boxing club.

Phil Zwick of Kaukauna and Armando Sicilla of New York city will headline the card, going 10 rounds at 138 pounds. The Kaukauna battler will be making his first appearance in Wisconsin in 10 years.

Zwick left the Fox river valley over 10 years ago on a tour that covered a greater part of the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Ireland, Scotland and South Africa. While Zwick was abroad he met and defeated nine foreign champions.

Beaten by Rodak
His opponent, Sicilla, has done most of his fighting around New York and is considered a crack featherweight contender. He holds decisions over Nick Camratt, Frankie Wolfram, Mickey Genero and Jimmy Perron. He lost close decisions to Leo Rodak and Everett Rightmire and boxed Jackie Wilson to a draw.

In the semi-windup of eight rounds, Jimmy Webster, a South African protégé of Zwick, will box Jimmy Johnson, a colored boy from Chicago, at 118 pounds.

Webster has won five of his six fights since coming to Canada and the United States and has defeated most of the best flyweights of the British empire.

Wilbur Van of Green Bay, a former amateur champion, will oppose Sonny Batson of Chicago in a six rounder at 128 pounds and Archie LeMay of Neenah and Billy Borchert of Appleton will clash in a four round opener at 165 pounds.

Knox Cage Coach Must Rebuild for This Year

Galesburg, Ill.—Dean S. Trevor, Knox college athletic director, starting his thirteenth year as head coach of Siwash basketball, is faced with the necessity of building an entire new team. Four lettermen were graduated from last year's first five, leaving Sam Efor, of Cuba, a forward, as the only regular on the squad. Foster Arranges Games With Freshman Talent for Tonight

Madison—(AP)—A "doubleheader" basketball game is scheduled tonight at the fieldhouse between the University of Wisconsin first and second team and ten picked freshmen.

Coch Harold E. (Bud) Foster fully realizes that his squad needs several games before it tangles with Beloit college's quintet, and feels that tonight should put the finishing touches on his 1938-39 cage squad.

The varsity has had an easy time with the yearlings last Friday, winning 32-20. The Fresh promise a better showing tonight as the varsity reserve strength will be at a minimum.

The first five, which is composed of juniors and seniors, will probably be the same which will start against Beloit. Ernie Davis, of Madison, the only regular returning, will pair with Johnny Rundell, also of Madison, at the guards; Bryon Bell, of Neenah, will be at center, and Andy Smith, of Wausau, and Dave Dupee, of Freeport, Ill., at forwards.

Bob Schwartz, junior from Madison, was kept out of the first game due to a pulled muscle, but will see action tonight.

As reserves, Foster will have John Householder, of Madison; Walt Anderson, of Superior, forwards; Fred Marsh, Stoughton; Robert Guis, of Lannon, centers; and John Gallagher, of Milton Junction, guard.

The sophomore lineup will have Paul Murphy, of Madison and Harlo Scott, of Platteville, at forwards; Gene Englund, of Kenosha at center and Ted Strain, of Harvard, Ill., and Don Halbman, of Beaver Dam, at the guards.

Maertzwiler, Jones, Novakofski, Crawford Are All-Midwest

OUR members of the Lawrence college football team, Midwest conference champions for 1938, were placed on the All-Midwest conference football team, selected by the eight member coaches, it was announced here today. All of the eight colleges were represented on either the first or second team as the result of close balloting.

The captaincy of the first team went to Albert Novakofski, Lawrence's sensational halfback, by virtue of being the only man to receive a unanimous first team vote.

Other Vikings honored were Joe Maertzwiler at quarter, Jack Crawford at end and Vincent Jones at tackle.

Maertzwiler was an outstanding blocker for the Vikings this year besides a signal caller. He also was a sensation backing up the line and diagnosing opponents' plays. Added to that he continually talked it up among his mates.

Jones, the biggest man in the Midwest loop, was picked at tackle as a reward for top-flight work. He is only a sophomore and is from Appleton. Although handicapped by a bad ankle much of the season, he seldom gave ground on defense where he played against the enemy strong side, and usually could push his way through opponents on offense.

Jack Crawford was selected at end. He gained a reputation by his ability to snag forward passes on offense and was steady on defense. He was a marked man when opponents learned that he caught the majority of Viking passes. However, by that time the Vikings had scored most of their Midwest wins.

No Vikings were placed on the second team but two were given honorable mention. They were Mike Galko, guard and Dick Garvey, Appleton, center.

Duke, Tennessee Or TCU Expected To Get Bowl Bid

West Coast Wonders Whether It'll be California or USC

LOS ANGELES.—(P)—Conflicting reports filled the air today that Texas Christian, Duke or Tennessee would get the coveted bid to the Rose Bowl as the Pacific Coast conference prepared to name its own entry in Pasadena's annual post-season gridiron battle.

Announcement was expected to be made this afternoon as to whether Southern California or the University of California would carry the somewhat tattered banners of the far west into the big bowl next Jan. 2.

Southern California's Trojans, unbeaten in three appearances in the Rose Bowl, and California, victorious over Alabama at Pasadena last New Year's day, are tied for the conference championship, each having won six games and lost one—U. S. C. to Washington, California to the U. S. C.

The ten members of the league—U. S. C. L. A., Washington, Washington State, Oregon, Oregon State, Idaho, Montana, Stanford, California and U. S. C.—voted on the Rose Bowl selection, and sentiment beforehand seemed to favor the Trojans.

The rivalry of the two leaders was sharp, but Southern California's stock rose considerably after its 42-7 triumph over U. S. C. L. A. last week, while California lost prestige in skinning out a 6-0 decision Nov. 19 over the then much-kicked around Stanford eleven.

U. S. C. officials this morning met with staff silence reports that any team had been invited west. For weeks most of the Rose Bowl talk has centered on Texas Christian.

Duke's chances soared when the Blue Devils from Durham, N. C., edged out Pitt, 7-0, and kept intact their season record of never having been scored upon. Tennessee, the last of the untied, undefeated trio most discussed, likewise kept in the running with a thumping 46-0 victory over Kentucky last week.

Art Ecker hammered a 245 game and William Newmann pounded a 618 series to share individual honors during Zion Lutheran Big Ten league matches at Zion Lutheran alleys last week. Minnesota collected high team game of 994 and Northwestern showed high team series of 2,883.

With C. Fechter grooving a 219 game and 602 series, Purdue grand slammed Wisconsin. Ed Sanders showed a 227 game and 586 series for the losing five.

Northwestern took two games from Illinois as Newmann connected with games of 200, 222 and 196 for his big series. R. Schmidt totaled 608 for the losers and H. Stoddard had a 222 game.

Two games went to Minnesota in a match with Chicago. B. Roberts smashed a 610 total and W. Berg steamed a 224 game for the victors. Al Bauer topped the losing quint with a 605 series while Ecker uncorked his 245 game.

Ohio won the odd game from Indiana as H. Kosob totaled 582 and Ed Pirner scored 215. Pacing the losers was B. Buxton with a 577 series and W. Witt with 211.

Iowa downed Michigan in two games with H. Gleason crashing a 240 game and 611 series. E. Stocker was high for the losers with a 621 series and 218 game.

Johnny Revolva First At Southern Tourney

Columbia, S. C.—(P)—Johnny Revolva, of Evanston, Ill., counted his year's winnings at $8,553.33 today after taking first prize money of $1,200 in the Columbia-Ridgewood 234-tournament yesterday with a 234—an average of par for the four rounds.

Ahead of Revolva, however, in the money column was "Slammin' Sam" Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who picked up $336.66 by finishing in a tie for third place, thus boosting his year's winnings to the record total of $18,639.46. Revolva's triumph left him in second place in the year's earnings.

Revolva finished the tournament a mere stroke ahead of "Lighthouse" Harry Cooper of Chicago, Mass., and Craig Wood of Marquette, N. Y.

Tied with Sneed at a stroke behind these two were Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., and Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, L. I. Each received $336.66, sharing fourth, fifth and sixth prizes.

Dozen or More Games This Week Mark End of Season's Grid Wars; Irish Meet USC

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK.—(P)—Old Man Pigskin, co-starred with Miss Upset in the 1933 football drama, takes a couple of curtain calls this week although the play itself ended with last Saturday's climatic scene.

The curtain dropped on a cast that had only eight important members whose performances throughout two-months' show was perfect. Duke and Tennessee of the south, Georgetown of the east, Notre Dame and Oklahoma of the midwest and Texas Christian of the southwest were the principal actors who suffered neither a defeat nor a tie. In the main supporting roles were Western Reserve and Texas Tech, both with perfect records. Villanova was tied once but unbeaten.

Ten other teams had unbeaten, untied seasons, but they took the walk-on roles in the big show. Two which previously had been tied but undefeated suffered their first defeat during the past week.

Irish Go West The fighting Irish, after a week off, go west to meet Southern California, co-champion of the Pacific coast conference and likely choice as western team to play in the Rose Bowl, Jan. 2. Oklahoma, winner of the Big Six title, meets an often-beaten Washington State team at Norman, Okla. Tennessee defends its Southeastern conference crown against Mississippi. The Vols can't be beaten mathematically, but since the title is unofficial coach Bob Neyland says he won't claim it unless the Vols beat Ole Miss. Texas Tech, 21-2 winner over Marquette, takes on Centenary.

Other outstanding contests listed this week are today's South Carolina-Catholic University game at Washington, postponed Saturday because of snow; Miami-Georgia Friday and on Saturday Florida-Temple, Rice-Southern Methodist to wind up the Southwest conference season, and North Carolina State-Citadel in the Southern conference finale.

The next task is the selection of performers for Rose, Cotton, Sugar and other year-end "bowl" games. The Blue Devils showed their might by taking over Pittsburgh, 7-0, just as they had disposed of eight other rivals. Texas Christian, with an unusual display of ground power for the air-minded Southwest conference, routed Southern Methodist, 20-7, to take the conference crown.

Notre Dame, with a definite policy against post-season games, is off the list of "bowl" possibilities. Oklahoma, which rang up its 13th consecutive victory Saturday by whipping Oklahoma A. and M., 19-0, hasn't made known its attitude. Neither has Tennessee, concentrating on the Mississippi game after routing its old hoodoo, Kentucky, 46-0 last Thursday.

Other developments of the season's last busy week were:

East The Army-Navy spectacle before 102,000 fans at Philadelphia overshadowed the other doings as Army outplayed through a large part of the game, cashed in on Huey Long's 79-yard run and a single concerted drive for 81 yards to win, 14-7. Holy Cross, whose only defeat was a one-point loss to Carnegie Tech, gained a lot of prestige through its rout of Boston college. Fordham also added to its laurels with a 23-0 conquest of its nearest rival, New York University. Villanova concluded its undefeated season with a 20-0 victory over Manhattan Thanksgiving day as Cornell took Ivy league laurels despite a scoreless tie with Pennsylvania.

South Tulane moved up to tie Alabama for second place in the Southeastern conference by conquering Louisiana State, 14-0, in a game marked by several fist fights and spectator participation. "Bama" downed Vanderbilt, 7-0. Thursday, Mississippi, beaten only once, kept its hopes alive with a 19-6 triumph over Mississippi State while Georgia and Georgia Tech battled to a scoreless tie and Florida surprised with a 9-7 decision over Auburn. Before taking on Pitt, Duke romped off with the Southern conference title.

Southwest Baylor took over third place in the Southwest conference standing as Bullet Billy Patterson led the Bears to a 21-6 triumph over Rice. This week's S.M.U.-Rice game can decide only whether the Owls will hold forth or drop below Texas A. and M., upset 7-6 by Texas Thursday.

Far West Stanford, looking progressively tougher each week, finally blossomed out with a first-class performance to whip Dartmouth, one of the East's high-ranking teams, 23-13. Oregon State rallied in the last period to down Oregon, 14-0 and hold third place in the conference standing behind California and Southern California, which tied for the title with six victories and one defeat each. U.C.L.A. routed by Southern Cal, 42-7, Thursday, meets Oregon State Dec. 10 in the final conference tilt and can tie the Beavers. Washington did about as expected in trimming Washington State 26-0.

Santa Clara, one of the coast's big "independent" eleven, finished its season yesterday on a sour note. The Broncos lost to Detroit, 7 to 6, and dropped off the list of unbeaten teams that includes Holy Cross, Carnegie Tech, Rutgers, Mississippi and California.

The semiwindup in a bout that ought to provide the crowd with plenty of opportunity for vocal exercise. The two will clash in a two out of three fall contest with an hour time limit. The crowd chose the windup at the last bout, indicating by its applause that Stan Pesek is the "fair-haired boy" and that the spectators want to see him clash with Dave Reynolds. He will do just that in a two out of three fall contest with an hour time limit.

Jungle Joe Bauer will be back to moon and groan through the preliminary. His opponent will be a newcomer to Twin City mat fans. He is Charles Karass of Milwaukee. The bout will be a 30-minute, one-fall contest.

Lions and Packers May Hold Playoff Game in Chicago

Detroit Completes Season Next Week Against Philadelphia

CHICAGO.—(P)—National professional football attendance figures, already well over the million mark, may get an additional boost if Detroit's Lions have their way.

The Lions are hot after a slice of Western division honors, which they can achieve by defeating Philadelphia's Eagles next Sunday. This would necessitate a play-off with Green Bay and create an extra "gate" before the grand finale between Eastern and Western division winners.

In the event of a play-off, the game may be held in Chicago Dec. 11 with the league championship being decided the following Sunday.

Washington's defending champions kept in the race for eastern honors yesterday by disposing of Pittsburgh 15 to 0 with the aid of Sammy Baugh's forward passing. They will battle the pace setting New York Giants for the division championship in next Sunday's other regular season windup.

In the only other game yesterday, two records fell and another was equaled as the Chicago Cardinals trounced the Cleveland Rams 31 to 17. The Cards ran their total of completed passes to 112, four more than the record established by Green Bay in 1936. Gaynell Tinsley caught seven during yesterday's spree, running his total to 41 and tying the 1936 mark by Don Hutson of Green Bay. One of the throws was good for a gain of 98 yards and a touchdown. The toss surpassed his own mark of 97 yards set last year.

Schlafer (2)	842 1001 975—2818
P-C (1)	864 887 916—2667

Three postponed industrial league matches were settled over the weekend at Arcade alleys with Montgomery Ward nosing out Pond Sports in two games and downing Appleton Machines in three straight. Schlafer's won the odd game from Post-Crescent.

Montgomery Ward had fewer top pins than Pond Sports but managed to count enough in the first two games to win. Clarence Stoffel cracked a 233 game and 549 series for the winners while Myrlon Seims rattled a 203 game and 545 series for the losers.

In another match rolled Sunday afternoon, Montgomery Ward grand slammed Appleton Machines. Joe Herman was high for the victors with a 574 series and T. Boehler showed a 202 count. Wally Ecker blasted a 218 game and 568 series and O. Sager bagged a 200 game for the losing quint.

Duke Boasts Unbeaten, Untied And Unscored Upon Grid Slate

BY SID FEDER NEW YORK.—(P)—If all the red faces and crippled bank rolls were laid end to end, they'd stretch from Durham, N. C., to Rose Bowl, Calif., today. Yes sir, Mr. Wallace Wade's Dukes really have it, in case you haven't heard. . . . Unbeaten, untied, unscored upon and unrecognized 'till they put Pitt in mothballs. . . . So let's have those "we told you so's," you boys down there. . . . Also sponse you noticed, Oklahoma didn't mess with the Aggies when their running attack stymied. . . . This corner could go for a "bowl" lineup like this: Notre Dame versus Texas Christian, Duke versus Oklahoma, Tennessee versus Villanova, Texas Tech versus Georgetown, and a Carnegie-Holy Cross rematch. . . . Have you any others up your sleeve? . . . Speaking of bowls, Fordham has a good chance for the sugar tilt after that shellacking of alma mammy N. Y. U. (Ouch!) . . .

Dunno if you've heard, but Ceferino Garcia had to take 21 pounds off in three hours before the weight for the Armstrong fight Friday. . . . Scaled 199 at 9 a. m. and had a rather warm session in the Turkish baths. . . . The grapevine still reports Terry will send Hank Leiber to Brooklyn for Buddy Hassett to cure the Giants' first base blues. . . . The howl is on to give George Pace, classy Cleveland bantam, a crack at Sixto Escobar for the title. . . .

Oklahoma folks were peevish punchenly because sleepy Jim Crowley left the Sooners off his radio list of major unbeaten teams. . . . Say Jim should be advised Oklahoma only has a 7,000 enrollment, compared to 3,000 for Notre Dame, where James was a four-year horseman. . . . Moon Mullins, Loyola of New Orleans coach, goes Bo McMillin one better in that suggestion to have coaches call plays on the field. . . . Why not have the alumni do it, says Moon—then the wolves couldn't howl so much. . . . Good idea at that. . . .

Larry MacPhail is appealing Judge Landis' decision which kicked the Dodgers out of the Eastern shore league for three years. . . . Says the daffiness boys were innocent victims of any phantagining involved. . . . Wonder how come Mike Jacobs was giving all us boys that song and dance about a $100,000 sell-out for Armstrong-Garcia. . . . When he must have suspected all along it wasn't even going to be close.

Leader Gets Off Course and Lash Wins Fifth Time

Repeats as National A. A. U. Cross Country Champion

NEWARK, N. J.—(P)—It didn't seem to matter much today to Victor Drygall of New York's Millrose A. A. that he lost and that an error by a policeman helped another policeman gain the National A. A. U. cross country championship for the fifth straight time.

As Drygall, who holds the national 15-kilometer title, plodded through snow and mud and held a comfortable lead with two miles to go in the 10,000-meter cross country run yesterday, the motorcycle policeman preceding the runners unwittingly drove off the course.

Drygall followed and had to plow through 10 yards of snowdrift to get back on the course.

That detour brought the great two-miler, Don Lash, former Indiana star and now an Indiana state policeman, within a few feet of Drygall. Lash, fighting off a stomach cramp, overtook Drygall 15 yards from the finish and won in 34:32, a stride ahead of the New York boy.

Time Is Slow His time was 1:56.2 slower than the Branch Brook Park course record he set in 1936, but it made him the first runner in the history of the championship to win five straight times.

The race was confined to a 10-foot-wide path beaten out of snow that was two feet deep in places. A former teammate of Lash, Tommy Decker, competing unattached, was third in 34:38.

The Millrose A. A. won the team trophy for the second straight year with 29 points, nosing out the New York A. C. by six points. Manhattan college, I.C.A. champion, was third with 70 points.

Lash said he felt the cramp after running the first quarter-mile of the race that is approximately six and a quarter miles long.

Games to down Post-Crescent Saturday night. D'arcy McGee thumped games of 211 and 206 for a 571 series to pace the winners. Eddie Steward grooved a 212 game and 565 series and Dick Wenzlaff showed a 213 game for the losers.

Marquette Turns To Basketball as Grid Season Ends

Cagers Defeat Alumni; Football Squad Loses Sixth in Row

MILWAUKEE.—(P)—Marquette university, its disastrous football season over, today turned full attention to basketball with high hopes for a successful season.

Coach Bill Chandler's cagers opened their tough schedule with a 34 to 30 victory over an impressive alumni team Saturday—the same day in which Coach Paddy Driscoll's Hilltop eleven took its sixth successive defeat, from Texas Tech at Lubbock, Tex., 21 to 2.

Bob Deenen, Hilltop forward, sparked the 1938-39 Chandler quintet and scored 11 points. Three other veterans—Dave Quabius, Moose Graf and Sparky Adams—played commendable ball. Three sophomores upon whom Chandler is counting heavily also got into action. They were Bill Komenich and Bob Von Bereghy, guards, and Bill McDonald, forward.

To Meet Wisconsin The alumni included Al Cotone, Roy McMahon, Whitey Budrunas, George Hesk, Cy Rubado and Paul Sokody.

Marquette opens its intercollegiate schedule against the University of Wisconsin at Madison next Monday night.

Texas Tech remained undefeated and untied for the season as the Marquette eleven concluded its unsuccessful two-game invasion of the southwest. The Red Raiders scored twice in the first quarter, but Marquette replied with one of its best offensives of the year only to have two apparent touchdowns called back.

Marquette made 15 first downs to Tech's six, but wilted in scoring territory. The Hilltoppers scored a safety in the second period when Ray Busler blocked Marek's punt and then tackled the Tech fullback as he recovered the ball in the end zone.

Kimberly Ready For Chuter Tilt

Village Teams Clash in Return Engagement Tuesday Evening

Kimberly—A capacity house is expected at the high school gym Tuesday evening when Kimberly Papermakers and St. John high of Little Chute meet for their second game. Last Friday evening Kimberly took the first tilt at Little Chute, 20 to 14, and is confident it can duplicate the win before going into conference play next Friday evening at Seymour.

After a nip and tuck battle for three quarters at Little Chute in the first game, the Hilltoppers went down to defeat in the last five minutes.

A tough break came from Little Chute when Weyenberg got four personal fouls after playing a stellar game at left guard. The final period was a fast and furious affair with the crowd holding the edge of its chairs as both teams tried desperately to score.

B. Weyenberg led the Papermakers with three field goals while Fleweger got two goals and a gift shot. Vanden Boogaard played a good floor game. Last year the teams split the victories, Kimberly winning on its home floor to celebrate the opening of its new gym, and Little Chute, taking a victory in the second match at home.

18 Grid Teams Remain Unbeaten and Untied

New York.—(P)—With the season virtually over, 18 large and small college football teams remain on the select list of the undefeated and untied today.

The largest array of perfect records in several years has remained unchanged for two weeks as the hardy survivors of the long season wound up their campaigns triumphantly. Seven of them took part in the festivities of the past week. Thanksgiving day or Saturday, and everyone came out on top by a comfortable margin.

Four of the biggest of them are due to play again this week as Notre Dame tackles Southern California, Oklahoma meets Washington State, Tennessee faces Mississippi and Texas Tech plays Centenary. San Jose state of California heads the list with 11 victories and is the high scorer of the group with a 310-point total.

Pegler Says Papers Ought to Respect Individual Privacy

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER New York.—I don't know what is coming over me, but I find myself growing more and more reasonable day by day. Specifically, I have come to believe that newspapers and newspapermen should respect the privacy of individuals, and that, in the case of a Lindbergh or a Garbo who wants to be let alone, the press has no mandate from the people to harass them for statements and photographs.

This is quite a change of view from that of my cab days in Chicago, when the picture-chaser was an important member of the staff, and the craft took mischievous pride in the stratagems by which photographs were obtained of people who were in the news. Too often people break into the news merely by reason of their relationship to someone who has got into trouble with the law or with some female and, although themselves completely innocent, are paraded in the lineup, so to speak.

Recently Greta Garbo returned from Europe and, against her will, submitted to a mass interview. She was not ill-treated in the copy, so far as I observed, but one New York paper ran a picture of her next day which obviously was selected for spite. It was a horrible picture of a woman whose face is her fortune, and if there is no such thing as libel by picture, then this was a case in which the law was an ass.

The picture was so bad that it just could not have been selected for any other reason than to get hunk with Miss Garbo for her aloofness in the past, and if there were a law I do not doubt that Miss Garbo could prove malice.

The newspaper photographers have a hard job, which would be made no easier by the establishment of the individual's right not to be photographed. Yet that should be the right of individuals, and they should have the means to enforce it.

Of course, methods have changed for the better in 25 years, and tricks which were used back around the outbreak of the big war have been forgotten. There has been a voluntary reform, but the development of the camera has created new problems and abuses, and they need to be considered for the good of the newspaper business itself.

Lindbergh Had Right To Give No Answer I believe it was fair to ask Lindbergh if it was true that he was engaged to marry Miss Morrow that time, but plainly it was his right to give no answer. There was an assumption that he belonged to the public and that, therefore, he had an obligation to discuss his private affairs for publication. But the didn't actually belong to the public, and although it is personally embarrassing to a reporter to receive an icy stare in reply to a question, that, after all, is one of the occupational hazards and does not justify reprisals.

There have been cases in which persons who merely did not want to talk or be photographed have been chased on foot and in cabs and compelled to dodge in freight elevators and assume disguises. Servants have been bribed to assist in such pursuits, and often the stories have nothing but inquisitiveness for their excuse. No actual news of legitimate interest to the public is involved in many such incidents.

Even In Crime Cases There Are Family Rights In criminal cases there should be more latitude, I suppose, because crime is news, but, even so, it must be recognized that the papers are not police agencies, and certainly the children or wife of a person accused of some wrong do not automatically forfeit all rights. I am not sure what these rights are, but they should be defined as clearly as they can be and then respected.

It is grief enough to be a member of a family in deep trouble without the additional punishment of the pillory, and it would ease rather than complicate the problems of reporters and photographers to acknowledge that certain types of assignments are not legitimate and to abandon a phase of newspaper work which does the public no good and harms the newspaper business.

Native Ability Tests Are Given to Students The Henmon-Nelson tests of native ability for sophomore and senior students were given over the public address system at Appleton High school during home room periods today, according to H. H. Heible, principal. The examinations are part of the state-wide cooperative testing program being given to more than 75,000 high school students. The tests were sent out by the state department of public instruction. Results of the tests will be added to the cumulative records of students and will be used in guidance work.

36 Notre Dame Grid Players Leave for West Chicago.—(P)—A squad of 36 "fighting Irish" of Notre Dame headed west today bent on conquering Southern California Saturday and achieving its first undefeated football season since 1930.

The Irish, who had a brief workout yesterday, boarded a train here early this morning for their trip to Los Angeles. Another drill will be held Wednesday in a stop-over at Tucson, Ariz.

Victory over the Trojans would give Notre Dame a string of nine straight triumphs this year. Kansas, Georgia Tech, Illinois, Carnegie Tech, Army, Navy, Minnesota and Northwestern were defeated in that order. In their winning streak, the Irish have counted 149 points to their foes' 26.

Dies Will Seek Added $200,000

Asks Secretary Hull to Move for Prosecution Of Reds and Bund

Washington (AP)—Representative Dies (D-Texas) said today he would ask the new house to appropriate $200,000 to continue for two years his committee's investigation of un-American activities.

Dies has said the committee would be unable to study numerous phases of its subject unless additional funds are provided.

He made public a letter asking Secretary of State Hull to request justice department prosecution of the Communist party, the German-American Bund and other groups for alleged violation of the law requiring agents of foreign principals to register here.

Earl Browder, general secretary of the Communist party in the United States, described Dies in an interview yesterday as the Communist's best recruiting agent, declaring his committee had given the party $9,500,000 worth of free publicity.

Norman Thomas, the Socialist leader, asked the LaFollette civil liberties committee Saturday to investigate the source of the Dies committee funds.

Dies asserted that the committee "has not received a dollar" from any source except the original $25,000 appropriation. He suggested that Thomas "ask whether any money has come to the LaFollette committee from the CIO or the Garland fund." The Garland fund, Dies said, contributes to "radical" organizations.

LaFollette committee attaches said they could not comment on Thomas' request until it had been studied.

Colder Weather Awaited at New Ice Rink at Kimberly

Kimberly—Continuous freezing weather is now all that is needed to complete the ice rink built outside the ball park on Kimberly avenue this year. Location of the rink, which was formerly inside of the park, was changed this season because considerable work is necessary each season getting the ball park in shape before the spring opening.

Workers sprayed water over the banks and bottom of the rink Saturday to make the under surface more solid. It will be flooded when the weather goes to about zero.

The rink is about 360 feet long and about 100 feet wide and will be lighted by night by floodlights. The tool house near the rink may be made available to skaters.

Player Makes Bid Against Powerful Hand

BY ELY CULBERTSON
LAST MONDAY'S QUESTION
Question 38: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:
North East South West
1 heart Double 7
You are South and hold:
♠ 7 6 4 2 — ♦ 5 4 2 ♣ 8 4 3

What call do you make?
Answer: You should bid one spade. This is the only situation in bridge that permits (demands, rather) a "free" bid which is really a rescue. A minimum (non-jump) bid directly over a takeout double is not strength-showing, but, on the contrary, is an announcement to partner that the bidder is afraid to pass—that he fears a penalty pass by the next opponent. (30 points demerit for passing; 30 points demerit for any other bid, including no trump.)

TODAY'S QUESTION
Question 45: The bidding was:
North East South West
1 diamond Pass 2 no trump Pass
3 no trump Pass Pass
You are East. Dummy and your hand are:

Dummy [North]
♠ A 6
♥ Q 7 4
♦ K 10 8 5 2
♣ 5 3

You [East]
♠ K 10 7 5
♥ K 8 3 2
♦ K 3 4
♣ 7 6

West, your partner, originally led the deuce of clubs and declarer won with the eight. Declarer then led the nine of diamonds and passed it. You won with the diamond jack. What card do you return, and why? (Short explanation will suffice.)

TODAY'S HAND
North dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
North-South 30, East-West 40 part-score.

NORTH
♠ A K 3 2
♥ K Q 8 5 3
♦ A 8 4
♣ A 8 4

WEST
♥ 10 8 7 4
♣ K 10 9 8

EAST
♠ A 9 5
♥ Q 3 9
♦ A 8 7 4

SOUTH
♠ K 10 8 7 4 3
♦ 10
♣ Q 7 5 2

The bidding:
North East South West
1 heart Double 1 spade 3 clubs
2 diamonds Double 2 spades Pass
3 no trump Double Pass Pass
4 spades Double (final bid)

John C. Stabile of Seattle, Wash., reports a neat bit of declarer's play, as follows:
"West led his top diamond and East's ace took dummy's queen. South ducked and the nine forced dummy's ace. The contract seemed hopeless, but declarer did not give up. He played low diamond from dummy and ruffed with the seven of spades. The spade four was led and dummy's queen was taken by East, who returned the queen of hearts. Dummy won, and at this point declarer took time out for a checkup. East's holding could be counted out. He had shown five diamonds and a singleton club (with more than a singleton he would have continued the suit). Therefore he must hold seven cards in hearts and spades. With five spades he probably would have bid that suit instead of doubling, so in all likelihood he had four spades and three hearts.

"The declarer now went to work. A low diamond was ruffed with the ten of spades and a heart was returned to the ace. A heart was then ruffed with the spade eight. After this the spade king, followed by the three of spades, put East on lead. After cashing his trump trick East faced the disagreeable necessity of leading a diamond from the J 8 up to dummy's K 9. Declarer had found a means of making his contract against what looked like insuperable odds.

TOMORROW'S HAND
South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ 8 3 2
♦ A J 10 9 5
♣ A 4 3

WEST
♠ 10 9 8 5

My Neighbor Says—

Do not allow house plants that have frozen to thaw too quickly. They should be sprayed with ice-cold water, shaded from sunshine and kept from fire heat until the frost has very slowly disappeared.

Rust stains may be removed from washable materials by: (1) rinsing the soiled garment in cold water; (2) sprinkling the stains with lemon juice; (3) then covering the stain with a thin layer of salt; and (4) letting the garment or material lie out in the sun for two days before it is washed again. Grass stains may be removed with alcohol.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST
By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Delma is the prisoner of a ghost. It has almost ruined her life. It has made her give up the man whom she loves. It tortures her unmercifully. If your progressive editor hadn't run this column she would still be a slave, as would tens of thousands of others in your community.

CASE L-178: Delma D., aged 26, is an attractive girl in distress. "When I was a child I developed a terrible habit," she admitted in some embarrassment, "and it persisted all through my girlhood. Now I have fallen in love with an upright, clean-cut young man. He loves me and wants to marry me. He thinks I am clean and decent.

"But I have broken up with him because my conscience is bothering me to such an extent that I feel unworthy of his love. I can't discuss my reasons with him, so he doesn't understand my attitude now, and both of us are miserable.

"Dr. Crane, would such a thing make him lose his love for me? Must I tell him? And is it possible for me to marry without my weakness having some ill effect on the morals of his children?"

"I'm trying hard to be a good girl now, but is that enough? Oh, Dr. Crane, what should I do? I love this man, but if you think I should give him up, I'll do so."

DIAGNOSIS:
There are still millions of prudish and smugly complacent adults in this country who don't have the remotest idea of the critical problems confronting young people.

Scores of newspaper editors in this country wouldn't print this Case Record today because their self-righteous and mid-Victorian souls would be horrified.

I am not exaggerating. Not long ago in Ohio an editor cancelled my Case Record column because I ran a case just like this one. And here in Chicago an editor deleted item 33 on my TEST FOR HUSBANDS because he said, "We're a family newspaper, you know."

Yet on the front page of that same issue he ran a picture of a young woman who had been sexually assaulted. And he gave her name, address and a salacious account of her attack! He did it for pure "yellow journalism" purposes, for it handicaps our police—since women now refuse to report many such attacks to dread of such lurid publicity.

Yet he had the nerve to delete an innocent medical term from my scientific rating scale for husbands! Talk about hypocrisy!

A Tribute to Progressive Editors
If your editor runs this case today, be grateful, for you have a progressive and scientifically minded man at the helm of your newspaper.

The schools and colleges aren't giving people many of the things we discuss in this column. The churches and parents often aren't doing it. Yet somebody should correct the heart cries of millions of Americans who are needlessly fettered by erroneous thinking and superstition.

The truth shall set you free, Christ said. In this column we try to give you truth. We discuss problems hitherto untreated in American education.

That, incidentally, is why scores of high schools are including psychology courses in the curriculum, using this column as the textbook for many superintendents of schools and high school principals feel the same way your editor does.

Enslaved by a Ghost
Delma, like the majority of all children, girls as well as boys, had become addicted to self-sex practices in her childhood. Most children stumble upon these practices at one time or another. But such practices do NOT produce insanity. They do NOT constitute immorality, nor will they affect her children. It is arch immorality to let millions of young people go through the torment she is experiencing when it is unnecessary. She is simply chained to a ghost of taboo and medieval superstition.

I told her to marry. She was a normal girl, having done only what others have done. Be sure to send me a long, self-addressed envelope with 6c postage thereon if you wish my bulletin on SEX PROBLEMS OF YOUNG PEOPLE.

(Dr. Crane will give personal attention to questions on psychological problems. Write him, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a 3-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply. Letters and readers' names are never published.)

'MR. DEEDS WENT TO TOWN'
"Mr. Deeds went to town" with the movie fans in London, but it's plain to be seen that the fans gave Gary "Mr. Deeds" Cooper and his wife, Sandra Shaw, the worst of it.

Parents Should be Truthful
In Answering Child's Queries

BY ANGELO PATRI
Nobody knows the right answer to most of the questions life poses. Nobody knows much about anything. The greatest scholar, the wisest among us, knows his one field, and mighty little of that when the magnitude of any field of study is considered. Then why cannot people just say, "I don't know," and be done with it, when children ask questions that they cannot answer? Any child, the veriest simpleton and the greatest wizard among them, can ask a question that nobody on earth is prepared to answer. The thing to do is to say so.

All children ask questions. Sometimes these are intelligent questions. The result of thought. Sometimes they are a way of winning attention, of passing time, of distracting attention from the questioner's behavior. One must consider the child and his mood, in dealing with his questions. Jackie knows that bedtime is coming on fast and will overtake him in a few minutes. He spurs for time. "Daddy, what makes the lamp burn?" "Electricity."

"What is electricity?"
"A force of nature that nobody understands."
"Doesn't God understand it?"
"Yes, He made it."

"Then why doesn't He explain it to you?"
"Because He does not think it wise to do so. I must find the answer by myself if I want to know it. That's the best way to answer questions. And it is your bedtime. Hurry along now and get ready. Your mother is waiting."

"But daddy—"
"Off with you. I don't know any more about electricity than you do and you're only wasting your time. Good night."

It is easy to recognize the earnest question, the one that experience or need has brought to the child's mind. If one must say, "I don't know," to a question about the Diesel engine, one can also say, "But we can get some information on it from the library, and I'll ask the engineer in our office to talk to you about it. He knows because he works with engines. I never had anything to do with machinery in my life." That will set things right. Questions to which one does know the answers should be answered as fully and as honestly as one's knowledge allows. Hedging won't do because it makes the child feel that there is something to hide, or that one is unfriendly and obliging. Such questions as those concerning sex, religion, family finances, family history, have to be answered truthfully. "I don't know," does not belong here. Answer truthfully, and as completely as the experience and personal responsibility of the child allows.

But when you don't know say so. Children lose no affection or respect for people who confess ignorance, in honesty. They have no regard for those who try to cheat them, a useless effort always.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Woman Who Sacrifices Love
For Money Usually Unhappy

BY DOROTHY DIX
A girl asks: Is it better to marry the man you prefer or the life you prefer? It depends upon the individual taste of the woman and whether she shankers more for romance or the fleshpots. Much is to be said on both sides of the question, but if a girl is an incurable sentimentalist, love is her dish. Her sweet tooth will always crave water for her lips. No matter how good and kind her husband is, nor how luxuriant he lavishes upon her, she will be unhappy and dissatisfied unless he is her heart's desire.

Such women must pick out their mates with their hearts instead of their heads because their emotions are all that count with them. It is folly for them to marry for money, or position, or because a man is sober, industrious and reliable and could be relied upon to be a good provider and not run off after blonde goddesses.

And it is worse than folly, it is downright idiocy, for a man to think that he could ever marry a woman of the go-go type and win her by making a doormat of himself for her to trample on or buy her affections with matched pearl necklaces. It can't be done. She must see the man she marries as the Fairy Prince of her dreams, or dust.

Very often a poor girl gets tired of poverty and pinching and counting pennies and decides she will marry a man who can give her the life she wants. She gets accounts at the best shops instead of the lad who makes her heart go pit-a-pat every time he looks at her. She reasons that romance is fleeting, but a home on the avenue is a permanent asset, and that she can get just as much thrill out of the love-making of a husband and who says it with cash as she could out of one who quoted poetry to her. And she expects to be happier as Mrs. Millionbucks, riding in her limousine, than she would be Mrs. Poorman, pushing her own baby carriage.

But it seldom works out that way. Our wishes have a way of turning into boomerangs that annihilate us. Only too often we find that the thing we sold our souls for we don't want after we get it. Lobster Newburg and champagne cease to be treats when we have them every day. Fine clothes and jewels get to be a burden when we have too many of them. Parties are a chore when they are a part of the daily grind. So the women who crave love and who marry without it in does, I think, look better with Mrs. If your husband were using his name alone then the title would look very well written in full.

Beauty and You
by PATRICIA LINDSAY

If you could see all the beauty experimenting being done with hair and skin and bodies, as I do, you would very seriously consider what I am writing today.

Young girls have a very natural desire to experiment with beauty aids. They like to test different creams and lotions, preparations for the hair, and fad diets. This vanity is not only natural, but it is essential to their well being. But danger lurks in over indulgence and in reckless efforts to make a dramatic change in their beauty.

Take for instance, hair tints and dyes. Although these aids are excellent for fading hair, of olden women they are not meant for the girl in her teens or early twenties. Numerous are the daring damsels who bleached or dyed their hair only to regret it.

And tempting are the pretty jars and packets of the cosmetic counter. Preparations promising to bring new beauty to the skin, new lustre to the eyes. And some of them do. But what new beauty does a youthful skin need and what can make young eyes more attractive than good health.

This business, too, of plucking eyebrows to a pencil-line thinness is no longer glamorous and using a depilatory on virgin hair growth which is almost unnoticeable is quite unnecessary—a good bleach would do the trick for perfect grooming.

Refrain from Destroying Beauty
My advice to younger girls is to refrain from destroying their envious beauty in their efforts to be more beautiful. Use only those creams or lotions which have a specific skin problem. Concentrate on daily and weekly grooming of your hair and keep it glossy and free. If you can wear it straight and look individual, even refrain from getting a permanent. Preserve its natural health so in the years to come you can enjoy it.

Pluck only the stragglers in your eyebrows and pluck those only if they detract from your facial expression.

Try to remember that the mere word "rejuvenating" means to renew youth. You will have your youth so such creams and skin packs are not for you.

Keep your figure slim and beautiful through enough out door exercise and well-balanced meals. Resort to diets only if you have become sadly overweight and need one.

There are years and years to come, when you will have to call upon all the beauty aids there are. Now you should content yourself with good health and embellish it with the exciting make-up at your command. Style your hair prettily and keep those young eyes sparkling with nature's greatest beauty aid—good health!

Develop charm young. My leaflet "Secrets of Charm for the Growing Girl" will help, I hope. Send your request to me care of this paper and enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

Keith Prah! Sets Two Pin Records In 6-Game Match

Hits 3-Game Series Counts Of 714, 614 for Average of 221

New London — Two all-time individual bowling records were set on Prah!s South Side alleys yesterday morning by Keith Prah!, 18-year-old son of the proprietor, in a 6-game series match with Glen Polaski. Both are former city singles champions, the latter in 1937 and the former last spring.

Prah!, crushed the record series of 714 in the second 3 games which combined with a 614 total in the first three games to set up a record 1328 total for 6 games. He rolled an average of 221 pins in the 6 games.

The record series was made in games of 212, 257 and 245, the other in 189, 200 and 225. The youthful kegler smashed seven straight strikes in the 257 game but spared up on the eighth and ninth frames to lose ground.

Polaski, former holder of the 3-game series record with something a little over 700, rolled totals of 513 and 494 yesterday.

Refreshment League

Two teams of the Refreshment league made up postponed Thanksgiving games at Prah!s South Side alleys yesterday afternoon, the Log Taverns taking Miller High Lives for two to sneak into third place. They lost the first game by seven pins, 806 to 813.

Fritz Euclow paced the winners with a 579 total made with a line of 223. William Eggers followed with 575 and 214. The losers trailed behind Bob Huntley's 520 count.

Organize Union Basketball Loop

Furniture Workers Score 34 to 31 Win in First Game

New London—The formation of a labor union basketball league was started here last week with the first game played Friday night at Labor hall between Furniture Workers local 1642 and Plywood and Veneer Workers local 2890. The former won 34 to 31. The same teams will meet again at the hall Wednesday night and the public has been invited.

The teams consist of former high school players. The Furniture Workers have appropriated sums to purchase new balls and equipment and conventional lettered uniforms for the players. The Plywood is considering the same steps also and members of the Canning Factory Employees local 1107 are seeking to make up a team.

Union heads hope to establish organized athletic competition among the various locals with enough teams to form an active league, according to Walter H. Lewis, president of the New London Central Labor council. Eventually the locals hope to book games with teams from out-of-town labor unions.

Playing for local 1642 Friday were Carl Haese, center; Donald Hoier and Art Gottschalk, forwards; Donald Farrell and Kenneth Palmer, guards. Substitutes were John Soffa, Arthur Palmer and Fritz Noack.

Pacing the floor for Local 2890 were Howard Levezow, center; Clifford "Tip" Krohn and Pete Westphal, forwards; Maurice McDermott and Vernon Burton, guards. Clarence Kroll substituted. The same line-ups are to perform Wednesday night.

Stacymen Meet Rockets Friday

Veteran Neenah Team to Invade New London For League Tilt

New London — Coach D. N. Stacy's cagers will get their first real conference test Friday night when they will meet the Neenah Rockets in the first home game of the season at Washington High school gym here.

The Stacymen have looked impressive in trimming Waupaca and Clintonville in early tilts but the Rockets present a veteran aggregation. They had to rally however to beat Kaukauna 27 to 20 Friday night but trimmed Shorewood high easily Saturday night, 32 to 23.

Coach Stacy took his five starting regulars to scout the game at Neenah Saturday night. The Rockets have a big treat in Warren Kettering, a flashy guard; Dan Schmidt, veteran center; and two other veterans of the floor, Buck Kettering, forward, and Hesselman, guard.

The Red and White squad was called to the Washington High school gym for a special practice Saturday afternoon and scrimmaged with the Weyauwega High school varsity. Offensive and defensive play will be stressed this week.

Making the trip to Neenah Saturday night were Douglas Hoier, Stewart and Wallace Hammerberg, Gordon Meklejohn and Kenneth Braut.

Checks Totalling $55,000 Are Distributed Under AAA Program

New London — Checks totaling $55,000 in payment of part of the 1938 soil conservation benefits, were distributed to farmers of Waupaca county Friday and Saturday by the county conservation committee.

About 100 farmers received their checks at the city hall here Saturday morning. During the two days 940 checks were issued at Waupaca, Manawa, Clintonville, Marlon, Iola, Weyauwega, Fremont and New London.

The checks represent full payment to those farmers who received them but there are still about 2,300 benefit payments to be made in the county, according to Almo J. Larson, Waupaca, president of the conservation committee. Payments will be made as the checks are received.

Payments for the year are expected to reach the high total of 1936, about $172,000. Last year, less expense of administration, about $155,725 was paid out in the county.

night. Do it occasionally as a sort of gesture. It's really a recreation room for the enlisted men. They have movies, dances, card parties and the like here. And there's a reading room in the right-hand wing. They didn't take it any too well when the old girl made her last bow; and once in a while the story goes the rounds that somebody has seen her ghost fluttering around on that dark balcony. Then the officers get busy and have a dance here and the story dies down for a while.

"No wonder the guest rooms are seldom used."

Adam chuckled. "Catch any soldier on this post putting his womanfolk in this building for the night?"

Something moved in the shadows beyond the veranda railing. My heart gave an involuntary lurch.

"Is that you, Katherine?"

It was Elizabeth in her pink shepherdess costume. She was alone.

"I'm going to run home for a few minutes—Father said he might telephone at eleven o'clock. I won't be gone very long, but I thought you might wonder..."

My conscience pricked me. I had not really given Elizabeth a thought for the past hour. And she must be having a rotten time.

"I'll go with you," I said promptly.

Adam, on his feet, spoke almost simultaneously. "I'll get my car." But she waved us both aside. "Please, no," she said firmly. "My car is here, and I slipped out the side door from the powder room so no one would bother. Please—I won't permit you."

Nor would she. Anxious as I was to cease encumbering Adam, to free him from his solitary vigil by my side, I found myself waiting on the veranda while he saw her to her car, listening to the rather sad music of the soldier orchestra, watching through a convenient window the very wan dancers in their uninspired costumes.

Democrats Plan $25 Jackson Day Dinner at Lansing

Look for Keynote Among 'Conservative' Members of Party

Lansing, Mich. —(AP)—Michigan Democrats will console themselves for defeat, as they celebrated victory a year ago, with a $25-a-plate Jackson day dinner in a leading hotel.

"You can write that, and you can write that the money will go into the campaign fund," said State Chairman Edward J. Fry in defiance of Republican criticism during the 1938 campaign.

Fry made it plain he believed opposition charges of campaign extravagance cut no figure in election returns that gave the victory to former Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald and the entire Republican slate, just as he left no doubt in the minds of county chairmen, in a letter made public yesterday, of his belief that Governor Murphy's labor policies were the direct cause of the Democratic defeat.

Seek Keynote
Governor Murphy will be invited to sit at the speakers' table, but the chances are the Democratic high command will look elsewhere for the keynote of their 1939 feast, which has tentatively been scheduled for Jan. 7, since Jackson day, proper, falls on Sunday.

Murphy keynoted the 1938 banquet, and his remarks in favor of the income tax "in principle," but not, he explained later, for Michigan at that time, created widespread consternation.

But now there exists a considerable sentiment among Democrats, in view of the 1938 election reverses, for the selection of a keynote from among "conservative" members of the party. This feeling received concrete expression in a huddle of Democratic leaders charged with preparations for the 1939 dinner.

There was an indication whether the choice would fall to United States Senator Prentiss B. Brown, State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry or Highway Commissioner Murphy D. Van Wagoner, any of the three could produce at least a circumstantial case of support claims of conservatism, and each has a reason for seeking to share the limelight that has been focused almost exclusively upon Murphy among Michigan Democrats for the two years he has held office.

Mosley's Statement Fails to Clear Up Report on Marriage

London —(AP)—Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of British fascists, today issued a formal statement which neither confirmed nor denied reports that he had been secretly married to Mrs. Diana Guinness, blonde, 28-year-old, Nazi-admiring daughter of Baron Redesdale.

Reports that two were married in Munich or Berlin in December, 1937, with Chancellor Hitler and other high Nazi personalities in attendance, were published in London papers. Such a report first was published in Paris Nov. 23 by Paris-Soir.

The statement, issued through his organization of British Union, said that "Sir Oswald has not been in Germany at all for over two years." It denied the authenticity of what it called "the alleged document of December, 1937, to which publicity has been given," referring to the supposed record of the wedding, mentioned in published reports.

Investigations at all four Munich registrar's offices failed to reveal any trace of Mosley's reported wedding.

The official in charge of the registrar's office in which, according to one report, the marriage is supposed to have been recorded, said he knew nothing about such a marriage.

sentence is a mere formality. I am not guilty of a willful aggression against society."

"You pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree," interrupted Judge Wallace. "You admitted killing three persons, and I won't permit you to make any oration."

The court remarked upon pronouncing sentence that Irwin's guilty plea "was consented to by the district attorney and accepted by the court for the reason that there was a question of whether he was of sufficient mentality to be responsible for these acts."

"The defendant's counsel offered this plea to make sure this man would not be executed," he said. "The state lost nothing by accepting this plea, other than the execution of this defendant. This plea insured the incarceration of this defendant for the rest of his natural life and that is the sentence of this court."

Three Sentences
Irwin was sentenced to a minimum of 99 years and a maximum of "the rest of your natural life" for the slaying of Frank Byrnes.

He was sentenced to a minimum of 20 years each for the slaying of Veronica "Ronnie" Geddon, and the model's mother, Mary.

"These sentences are to be consecutive and not to run concurrently to assure your incarceration for the rest of your natural life," the court said.

"Your honor," cried Irwin, as Judge Wallace concluded, "You should have at least let me present my side of the case."

The triple slaying, one of the most spectacular crimes in modern Manhattan police annals, was discovered by the young model's father when he paid an Easter call on his estranged family in their Beekman Hill apartment.

Irwin, arrested after a long search, said his intended victim was Veronica's sister, Mrs. Ethel Kudner, whom he had wooed and lost.

Elderly Brothers Fail to Capture Burglar at Somers

Kenosha —(AP)—The Bullmore brothers didn't get their man yesterday, and that made it news.

The brothers—James, 79, and Albert, 68—operate a general store at Somers. For 10 years it has been rigged with a home-made burglar alarm.

When the alarm sounds in their home nearby, they grab shotguns and wait for the burglar to run out of the store when they switch on the lights.

That was the way it happened Oct. 19, 1937, when James shot and killed a burglar as he came running out the back door. It happened that way eight other times in the ten years, and six men received sentences in state prison as a result, one of them paroled by a volley of buckshot in the groin.

But yesterday the brothers, perhaps a little sleepy, switched on the lights while they were dressing. The burglar got away before James could get to the rear door and Albert the front.

Federation Fails To Pass Pickets

estimated the number of CIO pickets at between 250 and 275. A number of his men were engaged in passing out leaflets charging the Union Stockyard and Transit company, operator of the yards, with hiring "underworld characters" to assault the picket lines.

The same complaint was made to the United States district attorney's office here and Mayor Edward J. Kelly. The CIO charged a conspiracy to violate the civil rights of its union.

Since the CIO unit won exclusive bargaining rights with the stockyard company nine months ago its headquarters have been bombed and riddled with bullets. A steward was assaulted in the yards, and several weeks ago Ben Brown, president of Local 567, suffered a broken arm in a fight with men who broke into his home with baseball bats and shotguns.

Trading in the stockyards, one of the world's largest animal meat markets, has been suspended since last Monday, when the CIO handlers struck to enforce demands for a closed shop, a contract, a check-off agreement and other concessions.

There, in as much of a barnyard atmosphere as is possible in the shadow of the elevated tracks and skyscrapers, two teams of four girls apiece were prepared to settle the question. Each state furnished its own cows.

Issues Challenge
The whole thing began when J. H. Lloyd, Illinois director of agriculture, issued a challenge to Ralph Ammon, Wisconsin director of agriculture and markets. Ammon accepted it. The match was on.

The Wisconsin team was composed of Miss Annie Kutz, Fl. Atkinson, Mrs. William Chambers, Judy, Mrs. Charles Newman, Oshkosh,

Ex-Wife to Race Bilbo for Senate By Refining His Old Bag of Tricks

MRS. LINDA RUTH BILBO Wants To Please The 'Upper Class'

Jackson, Miss. —(AP)—Politics in the South often is packed with heat and drama. But Mrs. Linda Ruth Bilbo has promised to give Dixie the oddest of all its odd political battles.

If Mrs. Bilbo doesn't change her mind—and, of course, she's a woman—she's going to run for the U. S. Senate in 1940 against her former husband, Senator Theodore Gilmore Bilbo.

The Bilbos, married for 34 years, were divorced a few months ago. Mrs. Bilbo got $20,750 cash in an out-of-court compromise of their litigation, part of which, she says, she may use to oppose her ex-husband as an "independent candidate."

Not What You Think
"But get this straight," she cautions, "it will not be because of malice or spite, or anything else anybody thinks might be in my mind after Theo secured a divorce."

She says she has planned for a long time to make the race and has

THEODORE GILMORE BILBO Has No Comment

His campaigning is a little informal at times. Here's what Mrs. Bilbo says about it:

"I always thought Theo was wrong in acting like a 'red-neck' on the speaking platform. I want to conduct my campaign in such a manner that after my election the people—the upper class included—will still respect me as a lady."

Mrs. Bilbo is three years younger than her former husband. She used to be a school teacher, wears glasses, dresses well and makes an attractive appearance.

She says she is the only person in Mississippi who could defeat Bilbo, because "I know so much about him." She expects to take into her campaign experience gained helping him to win elections.

"I have been in politics—behind the scenes—as long as my husband," she says. "It's high time I recovered some benefits for the work I have done."

Senator Bilbo has had no comment on his former wife's announced intention of challenging him on the election stump.

Milkmaids Vie for Honors in Foyer of Chicago Loop Hotel

Chicago —(AP)—Four daughters of Wisconsin upheld the dairymaid's fame today by soundly trouncing four Illinois girls in a milking contest staged on the terrace floor of a loop hotel lobby.

In three minutes, the Wisconsin girls extracted 69 pounds and 8 ounces from their four cows, while the lobby teemed and hummed with gaping urbanites. The Illinois entries, smart in blue denim overalls and gold shirts, could do no better than 55 pounds and 13 ounces.

Chicago —(AP)—Eight bewildered cows were led into the foyer of a loop hotel today to help decide a burning question—are the beautiful milkmaids of Wisconsin better than the beautiful milkmaids of Illinois?

The answer lies in just how much milk the girls can procure from their cows in a contest sponsored by the Chicago Agricultural club. The club's motto is "Rus in Urbe," or "the country in the city," which probably was one of the reasons why the scene of the match was a hotel lobby.

There, in as much of a barnyard atmosphere as is possible in the shadow of the elevated tracks and skyscrapers, two teams of four girls apiece were prepared to settle the question. Each state furnished its own cows.

some tentative campaign planks in mind.

"One," she reveals, "would go far towards solving the nation's economic ills. It has to do with putting women back in the home and leaving the job field clear for the men."

Political prognosticators can't agree on the extent of backing Mrs. Bilbo might get if she decided to run. But they know that the 61-year-old senator, who calls himself "The Man Bilbo," is a consistent vote-getter.

His campaigning has, in succession, made him a state senator, lieutenant governor, governor (twice), and, finally, in 1934, U. S. senator.

His speaking voice is high-pitched and appealing in its eloquence. He usually wears a big diamond stickpin and a scarlet tie and during his last campaign boasted that he lived on sardines and crackers.

His campaigning is a little informal at times. Here's what Mrs. Bilbo says about it:

CHURCH SAFE LOOTED

Kenosha —(AP)—The safe of the First Methodist church here was looted last night. The burglars obtained $250 in cash, a checkup of collections and charity contributions disclosed today.

MUSCULAR RHEUMATIC PAINS—ACHES

It takes more than "just a salve" to bring speedy relief. It takes a "counter-irritant" like good old soothing, warming Musterole to penetrate the surface skin and help to quickly relieve the painful local congestion and aches due to colds.

Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness generally yield promptly. Better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Musterole has been used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. In three strengths: Regular, Children's (mild) and Extra Strong, 40¢. All druggists.

Cloudy, Warmer, Weatherman Says

Thermometer at 29 This Afternoon: Minimum Is 21

Cloudy and somewhat warmer tonight and tomorrow is the weatherman's outlook for Appleton and vicinity.

The sky was overcast today, with the thermometer finding conservative late November levels in the 20's. At 12:30 this afternoon, the instrument atop the Post-Crescent building registered 29. For the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 26 and the lowest 21, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant.

Snow or rain was predicted for the northeast portion of the state by the Milwaukee weather bureau slated for most of the state.

Los Angeles, with 82, and Lancaster, Wyo., with six, were the hottest and coldest cities respectively on the nation's weather chart yesterday.

Record Crowd Will Hear Fritz Crisler At Football Dinner

A crowd of at least 450 people—a record for the event—will attend the Lawrence college and Appleton High school football banquet tomorrow evening at the Masonic Temple.

Kenneth H. Corbett, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring the banquet, said this morning that the brisk sale of tickets points toward a capacity house.

Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan coach, will be the principal speaker at the banquet. Coaches Bernie Heslton of Lawrence college and Wallace Cole of Appleton High school will present letters to their players.

Dorschner was born in New London Dec. 31, 1917 and was graduated from New London High school in 1935. An accordion player, he organized a dance band and managed the group until he enrolled in a CCC camp in northern Wisconsin for a year. He went to Two Rivers to work about two years ago.

Survivors are three brothers, George, Two Rivers, and Adolph and Ervin, New London; four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Johnson and Mrs. Scott Hazelberg, New London; Mrs. Cecil Cox, Shawano; and Mrs. Adrian Houck, Rochester, N. Y.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning at Two Rivers and the body will be brought to New London Thursday afternoon for burial in the Maple Creek Lutheran cemetery.

Three Other Deaths
Three other persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in Wisconsin over the weekend. They were:

Clifford Solberg, 18, Belleville. Edward C. Jacobson, 46, Franksville.

Ernest Nelson, 22, Superior township.

Solberg was killed instantly Sunday night when his motorcycle collided with an automobile on Highway 92 three miles east of Belleville in Dane county.

Jacobson died late Saturday of injuries suffered earlier in the day when his automobile and a car driven by Herbert Klumb, 32, of West Bend, collided at an intersection of Highway 41 and County Trunk C near Racine.

Nelson was killed Saturday when his automobile failed to negotiate a curve on the outskirts of Superior and rolled over several times.

Strange Emperor

1—NERO'S EARLY LIFE

During a visit in Rome a year ago, I found that the memory of Nero still lingers there. One guide spoke of the work to locate the remains of Nero's Golden House, and another told of Nero's ghost.

A fight in Rome's arena.

"For hundreds of years," said the latter, "people were in fear of passing by this spot. There was a legend that it was haunted by Nero's ghost. To take away this fear, the Christians set up the church you see here now."

Nero was a Roman emperor, and some say he was the worst ruler Rome ever had. As we study his life, we see it was not in every way bad, but there were murders and other wicked deeds in it.

Nero was born in the year 37. He was not the rightful heir to the throne, but his mother, Agrippina, plotted until she made her son emperor.

Agrippina's third husband was the emperor Claudius, and he persuaded him to put his stepson in line for his place. Not long after that, Claudius was poisoned.

Before his seventeenth birthday, Nero became emperor. At least he held the office in name, though his mother was the real ruler of the empire for four years.

In the early years of his reign, Nero did things which led many persons to look upon him with favor. He made large gifts of grain to the people of Rome, and caused plays to be given which were free to the public. He also held free exhibitions in the arena.

In the arena, gladiators fought against wild beasts, also against one another. Often the fights were "to the death." Besides the ordinary gladiators, who were criminals or slaves, Nero ordered scores of nobles to go into the arena and fight.

A Roman writer has left us this short account of the personal appearance of Nero.

"He was of fairly good height. His skin was blotched. His hair was yellow-brown. His eyes were gray-blue and he was short-sighted. His legs were thin and his neck was fat."

Before long, Nero decided it was time to end his mother's power, and ordered her to be put to death. This crime, we are told, brought him fearful nightmares during the nine years he lived after it was committed. He was always worried about his mother's ghost coming back to haunt him.

New York—Late buying came into the stock market today and chopped down extreme losses running to three or more points.

Steels and motors led the forenoon retreat of the industrials. Utilities held fairly well for a time, but some of these eventually weakened. Rails were rather resistant throughout, although the majority remained behind minus signs.

Brokers could find no outstanding reason for the extension of last week's decline. Tax selling for income returns, more beneficial for speculators and investors than under the law in existence last year, was believed to have had as much as anything else to do with the setback.

Foreign affairs were spoken of as a "deterrent," at least.

Business news continued moderately comforting. A drop of 1.2 points in this week's steel mill operations was in line with expectations.

Dealings were slow the greater part of the day, but volume picked up at intervals. Transfers approximated 1,300,000 shares.

Secondary rail bonds were in supply. Commodities were mixed.

Wheat at Chicago was unchanged to up 1/4 of a cent a bushel. Corn was unchanged to off 1/4 cent. In late transactions, was down 20 to 35 cents a bale. Near mid-afternoon sterling was up 31 cents at $4.651 and French franc was off 1/16 of a cent higher at 2.60 9-16 cents.

Chesapeake Corp. Group Votes for Dissolution

Baltimore—(P)—Stockholders of Chesapeake Corporation, middle holding company of the once-astounding Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, voted today to dissolve the corporation today, in face of unexpected and vigorous opposition from Robert R. Young, New York stockbroker who has battled more than a year for control of the Van Sweringen interests.

Young, chairman of Alleghany Corporation, top holding company of the system which controls the valuable Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, sprang a surprise protest when he renewed his attack on Guaranty Trust of New York, largest stockholder in Alleghany and Chesapeake corporations.

Previously, Young had agreed to dissolution of Chesapeake Corporation, as a step in simplifying the corporate structure of the rail system, and to give Alleghany Corporation direct control of the C. and O.

He telegraphed directors at today's meeting he had "just learned to my surprise" that Guaranty, as trustee of Alleghany's bonds "may refuse to treat Chesapeake's future income" as available for interest payments on Alleghany bonds.

Prices of Wheat Average Higher On Chicago Mart

Smaller Deliveries on December Contracts Are Seen

Chicago—(P)—Prospects that deliveries on December contracts would be smaller than recently were looked for tended to make wheat prices here average a trifle higher today.

Winnipeg estimated export purchases of Canadian wheat today as 300,000 bushels. It also was stated that three cargoes of United States hard winter wheat had been sold to the far east.

Receipts were: wheat 24 cars, corn 135, oats 26.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to 1 cent higher compared with Saturday finish, Dec. 6 1/4, May 65-64 1/2, corn unchanged to 1/4 down, cc. 47 1/2, May 51 1/4, and oats unchanged to 1/4 up.

Last Year Has Been One of Progress for State Schools

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—As the Wisconsin public education system swings into its new year, school-conscious citizens can observe that for teachers particularly, and in many respects for pupils, the past year was one of progress. Many, varied and important adjustments have been made in the public school system as the result of new administrative provisions and legislation.

A recapitulation of the educational changes effected during the last year, many of them of profound importance to both taxpayers and parents of children of school age, has been compiled by O. H. Plenzke, who as executive secretary of the Wisconsin Education association was active in many of them.

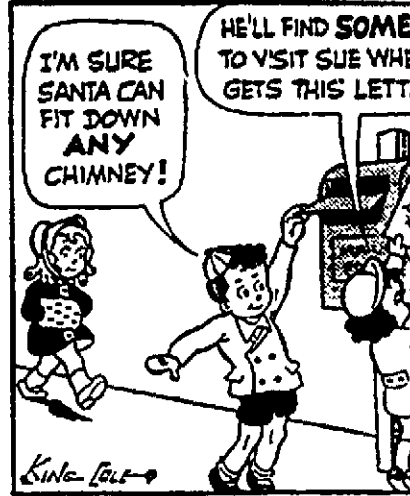

"Over 1,500 school districts had to adjust themselves to the implications of the nine-months term," he notes. "Attendance officers enjoyed reinforcement of the improved compulsory attendance law but had to spend some time explaining it to truant pupils and parents."

Accept Challenge

"Rural training schools immediately accepted the challenge of higher qualifications for certificates and have adopted two-year courses. School boards intent upon paying the legal minimum to teachers had to reconcile themselves to a modest pay increase. Boards and teachers were engrossed with a new relationship established by the tenure law. Districts offering high school courses received larger state aid and the tuition offset necessitated another bookkeeping and collection change."

Not only were there legal changes, but there were under way during the year many readjustments of an internal or local nature, Plenzke explains.

Sales Mean Jobs

Cardiff One of Great Britain's Important Ports

Sale of 'Dooryard Property' Stirs Metropolis

Washington, D. C.—When the present Marquess of Bute transacted the sale of some land adjacent to his medieval castle walls, he made May, 1938, memorable in the real estate records of Wales. For on his ancestral "front lawn" is now located the country's largest city and leading seaport, Cardiff. His sale of "dooryard property," on the grand scale surviving from feudal times, involves docks along the port's waterfront, blocks of houses, streets of shops.

"Modern Cardiff is the mighty oak that has grown from a little acorn of settlement outside the eleventh century Cardiff Castle's gates," according to the National Geographic Society. "From a population of 1,870 in the year 1801, the village has developed into the region's metropolis of a quarter-million inhabitants and one of the dozen foremost ports of Great Britain."

Forged Ahead
"Its progress into the front ranks of British commerce has been, in a sense, steam driven. Steamships after 1850 demanded coal, and mines in the Welsh mountains to the north funneled coal down a dozen valleys into Cardiff for sea-going bunkers.

Industrial cities demanded coal for steam to drive their machinery, and export routes fanning out over the water in all directions made Cardiff the leading coal port of the world. Machinery boomed the demand for iron and steel, which required coal for smelting; Cardiff both exported Welsh coal to foreign ironmasters and imported iron ore, chiefly from Spain, for her own blast furnaces. In 1932, when the industry elsewhere was slowing down, in Cardiff was erected the largest blast furnace in Great Britain.

Cardiff's location, with mineral-rich mountains to the north and Bristol Channel to the south for quick access to the world's shipping routes, has retained its value while civilizations flourished and fell. Roman legions planted a fort at Cardiff's roots because their road for patrolling the Welsh backwoods, the Via Maritima, there crossed the little river Taff. Roman masonry ten feet thick, possibly 17 centuries old, still serves today as a humble part of imposing Cardiff Castle, which about 1090 was started on the same site. Meanwhile the situation had attracted Irish missionaries, whose influence waxed before Scandinavian marauders; and there is evidence of a settlement of pirate Norsemen for a century or two.

Norman Invasion
"When Norman conquerors swept through Britain 850 years ago, Cardiff was promptly fortified by the invaders. The grim and solid Norman Keep served King Henry I as prison for his brother, Robert of Normandy; here the kidnapped duke died after 26 years of captivity.

The medieval forerunner of modern Cardiff may be described in Tennyson's account of King Arthur and his knights: "a little town in a long valley, on one side of which a white from the mason's hand, a new fortress rose." But even the massive castle could not save the little town from ravages of Owen Glendower, Welsh rebel hero, in 1404. It had dwindled to a minor butter-and-cheese port when Queen Elizabeth granted its petition for a charter.

While Britain was more concerned with developing American colonies than with Wales, Cardiff imported coal, despite the mountain coalfields virtually untouched six miles to the north. In 1794 a canal with many locks began slowly transporting coal from the mountain mines to the neighboring port. In 1841 a 24-mile railroad, first in the country, linked Cardiff with inland minerals. In 1850 a group of canny merchants started a sloopful

Europe Is Trying New Ideas To Solve Traffic Problems

London—Europe has borrowed most of America's ideas and developed a few of its own in an effort to do something about the increasingly hazardous traffic problem.

For cyclists and hikers, who constitute a problem virtually unknown in America, most countries have built separate paths along the main highways.

In Britain, provisional licenses are issued to persons just learning to drive. They cannot take a car out, however, unless they are accompanied by a licensed driver, and the car must bear a big "L" plate front and rear to warn police and other drivers "here comes a learner."

Britain rewards drivers for being careful. Diplomas and medals are awarded annually by the National Safety First association, an organization comparable to the National Safety Council in Chicago, to commercial drivers who have gone a year or more without an accident for which they can be blamed. As a result, many companies report not only a reduction in accidents but a reduction in insurance premiums as well.

Highway Phone Booths
Telephone booths, some of them public others available only to members of auto associations, spot the English countryside. Thus, the stalled car does not remain a highway hazard, for the driver seldom has far to walk to telephone for help.

Britain carries on an extensive educational campaign in home and schools but tries to get the idea across with humorous verses and catch words, veiling horror propaganda such as "and sudden death" a suitable to the British temperament.

Until 1934, says the traffic ministry, accident figures were going up steadily but they were arrested in 1935 and held stationary since then despite an increase in traffic. An average of 6,500 are killed and 230,000 injured annually.

Offenders' Cars Garaged
Germany is constructing a nationwide net of super-highways valuable for swift-moving traffic both in peace and in war.

In Munich a repeating traffic offender's car may be garaged for four weeks at his expense.

At Bad Nauheim a whimsical warning printed on an artistically decorated sticker may be pasted to your windshield. Here's a typical one:

"From this wrong parking place quickly flee.
"The Bad Nauheim police will turn a blind eye."
In Berlin, cars detected in freof coal from Cardiff to London. By 1880 the little port at the Taff's mouth was the coal capital of Wales, and on its way to becoming a world leader in coal export, with an annual output of millions of tons.

"Today's city, within a fringe of docks and grimy industrial works, has preserved around the feudal castle the freshness of Tennyson's 'little town,' with green parks and the clean buildings of recent rapid growth. Becoming a stronghold as significant as Cardiff Castle is the Welsh National Museum, facing Cathays Park. There are gathered relics of the distinctive Welsh culture—costumes, manuscripts, furniture from chieftains' halls—now growing rare. Since the heavy English migration into Cardiff in the past century, 95 per cent of the population now cannot speak the Welsh language.

"International rather than national is the trend of Cardiff's business. Timber from Canada is emptied into timber ponds for use as pit props in nearby mines or in local paper making. Metal industries, which started with iron, now include tin plate, copper, brass, chromium, lead, and steel. So much coal is mined in the surrounding countryside that provisions are imported in large quantities through Cardiff, which claims the title of champion potato importer of the British Isles."

'Frameup' Charged After Convictions In Torture Trial

Grand Jury Investigation Promised in Washington Case

Olympia, Wash., (P)—Charges of "frameup" and promises of a grand jury investigation today followed the conviction of Dr. Kent W. Berry, society physician, and three others in the torture-kidnaping of Irving Baker, whom the doctor accused of attacking pretty Mrs. Berry.

The 50-year-old doctor, facing possible life imprisonment, charged he was the victim of a frameup and said he would appeal his conviction on first-degree kidnaping charges. His three co-defendants likewise planned appeals.

Dr. Berry was accused of plotting the kidnaping and torture of Baker, handsome 37-year-old former coast guard officer, after alleging he raped Mrs. Berry, 27, following a July 4 weekend party. Baker denied attacking the woman.

After the superior court jury returned a verdict yesterday recommending life imprisonment for Berry, William E. McAloon, 55, former town marshal; James Reddick, 27, taxi driver, and Albert H. Smith, 32, dairy farmer, Berry shouted:

Charges "Entrapment"
"The prosecution rigged up this whole thing. Of course we'll appeal. If there ever was a frameup, this is it."

He referred to a proposed defense of "entrapment" in which his attorneys offered to prove county officials told Berry to beat up Baker after refusing to issue a rape warrant for his arrest. The court ruled against admissibility of such evidence.

Prosecutor Smith Troy said he would ask for a grand jury investigation of these charges. He said he believed the inquiry was necessary to clear himself and other officers.

Dr. Berry, McAloon and Reddick also were held guilty of first-degree assault, for which maximum punishment of 20 years in prison is prescribed. Smith was convicted of second-degree assault, a 10-year offense.

The four were tried for forcing Baker from his home Aug. 19 and torturing him with a belt and pliers while he lay bound hand and foot in an isolated gravel pit. Judge John M. Wilson announced he would hear motions for a new trial within two weeks. Pronouncement of sentences will await disposal of that motion.

DOSING FOR A DOSING
Berkeley, Calif.—(P)—A woman complained in police court that in an argument her husband Gustav had "cooled her off" by pouring two pitchers of water down her neck. The judge quietly gave some orders to his bailiff.

Up from the cellar came the latter with two pitchers of water. Her husband then got the same treatment.

Carollers to Give Evening Concerts Throughout City

Junior Chamber Announces New Christmas Project

A Christmas float depicting the scene in the manger at Bethlehem following Christ's birth will proceed through Appleton's residential districts accompanied by 150 child and adult carollers for an hour each evening of the week beginning Dec. 19, it was announced today by Junior Chamber of Commerce officials.

The project designed to amplify the Yuletide spirit and to present a living Christmas drama to the city's residents, has been planned by Mrs. Hazel F. Bannister, county WPA recreational director, and has been adopted by the jaces as the club's Christmas activity.

Characters on the float will be the Virgin Mary, the infant Jesus, Joseph, the Three Wise Men, and several shepherds. The Christmas procession, led by a town crier dressed in a fifteenth century costume, will move through the city for an hour in the evening, starting at 7 o'clock.

The crier will carry a bell and issue his proclamations. A group of a hundred or more children, also attired in fifteenth century dress, will follow the float and sing carols. It is also planned to have an adult group, probably a men's glee club, and a lyric soprano join in the singing.

The float will proceed through the city, taking a new course each evening. The entourage will stop periodically to sing such traditional Christmas songs as "Silent Night," "The First Noel," "O, Little Town of Bethlehem," and others.

Dale Fox, president of the jaces, said today that a cast of at least 150 children and adults will participate.

Mail Early, Christmas Request of Postmaster

Postmaster Stephen Balliet, looking into crowds in the post office lobby, high piles of packages backstage, dimly addressed Christmas cards, and burdened mail carriers, today sent out his first appeal for the early dispatching of Christmas mail.

"It will be of considerable assistance to us if people will mail cards and packages as early as possible," the postmaster said. "By mailing early, people can be assured of quick service and can lighten the annual Christmas congestion here in our post office."

Movieland Its People and Products

James Cagney—sees himself in the mirror as others see him on the screen—only that here he is not delivering upper-cuts or grapefruits—but getting rid of those stubborn red whiskers of his for another exciting scene in his starring vehicle, "Angels With Dirty Faces."

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—If you want an added filip from your movie entertainment, make a habit of studying the clever ruses used by experienced actors to "steal" scenes. Some of Hollywood's veterans are such expert thieves that time after time they focus audiences' attention on themselves in scenes which give them not one line of dialogue.

One classic example that made a newcomer a star was that coin-juggling trick of George Raft's on "Scarface." No other actor had ever stolen a scene from the great Muni, but George did it time and again by that one apparently absent-minded mannerism. Zazu Pitts is an adept—a flutter of her expressive hands or a sudden droop of her pathetic mouth is always enough to detract attention from the star.

Every actor in town shudders at the prospect of playing with Leo Carrillo, for it's a foregone conclusion that Leo's ad lib gestures, no matter how far they're relegated to the background, will capture audience interest.

I remember a friendly argument between Lionel and John Barrymore, when they teamed in "Night Flight." John challenged Lionel to steal a scene in which the elder Barrymore simply made a speechless exit. They shot it and Lionel, as he went through the door, hesitated, scratched his posterior reflectively, then went out. And I'll never forget John's anguished wail: "That burglar's done it again!" You'll get more enjoyment from pictures by consciously watching for such tid-bits.

IDOL CHATTER: Katherine Hepburn, striding down the street, always reminds me of a yacht under full sail. If perfect figures were "Open Sesame" to stardom, Raquel Torres would rate the highest bracket. The only effective gag for Gregory Ratoff would be a pair of handcuffs. In-a-line-description of George Raft: the Barber of Seville in a Hart, Schaffner and Marx. I never believed that old fairy tale about "The Golden Touch" until I met Bing Crosby.

Peas in a pod: Andrea Leeds and Adrienne Ames. Guess all those heavily-bearded extras who used to parade the Boulevard must have read the shaving ads—not one miff in a carload now. No foolin'—Deanna Durbin really has a phobia about crowds. Personal nomination for the most-gracious-lady title: Irene Rich. Boris Karloff has the lovable, stoop-shouldered walk of a Kentucky mountaineer.

No wonder Peter Lorrie looks so sly—he usually has a secret up his sleeve. In a town so informal that even Garbo was once called "Tools," it's amazing that no one ever addressed Paul Muni without tacking on a "Mister." George Murphy is much more sensitive than Clark Gable about the size of his ears. Hollywood he-men: Buck Jones—so he-ish that he bans all music in his pictures because it's "sissy." Sigh: too bad none of the reducing diets affect the head-size.

Credit Lucien Littlefield for one of the most amusing stories of the week. A broken down acrobat dancer, trying to eke out a living in pictures, went through his routine before the cameras—and the director pronounced it awful. "Once more!" he roared, "and this time put some PEP into it!" The dancer mustered all his energy and tried again. He leaped, spun, kicked and finally did a stage fall that brought down the house. Then he danced out of camera range, his hands clasped beneath his chin. "Swell," beamed the director, "all but the exit—holding your hands under your chin makes you look like a sissy." "I can't help it," gasped the dancer. "My neck's broken!"

When you make that visit to Hollywood, try to strike up an acquaintance with some member of the "Turf and Field" club and visit their quarters, hidden away behind locked doors in the Ambassador Hotel. It's headquarters for Hollywood's sportier crowd. On the walls of the cozy little barroom are inscribed the favorite wise-cracks of every big name star in town, together with their autographs and some very amusing cartoons. And a cartoon cut-out, more lifelike than Charlie McCarthy, peeks through the transom. Who is it? You're right the first time—Mr. Walter Winchell.

Hollywood looks like Lilliput just now, thanks to Metro's feat of gathering 104 midgets for the Munchkinland scenes in "The Wizard of Oz." You see the little folk strolling along every street and gossiping in front of the restaurants, while every passerby stares. As one of the studio's publicity men seriously remarked: "It's the most colossal group of midgets ever assembled." (Copyright, 1938)
